Lodge Warns Reds On War Escalation

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today that stepped-up military action such as they launched late in February will only bring continued loss of life and destruction.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge spoke at the 13th full-scale session of the Vietnam peacetalks. He apparently intended his warning as a reply to indications that the other side believes the Nixon administration will be influenced by mounting U.S. casualties.

Lodge spoke after the representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, cited antiwar demonstrations in the United States and asserted that both the public and the military forces wanted Washington to withdraw.

"Peace will not come to Vietnam," Lodge said, "as a result of military operations such as those you have been conducting since the end of February. Indeed, it must inevitably be hindered thereby."

Lodge said the United States does not seek military victory, but he added that "from all appearances, your side still pursues" this objective. He urged the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong to begin serious discussions immediately on such issues as respect for the 1962 Geneva agreement and the restoration of the demilitarized zone.

Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front told the 13th weekly meeting of the enlarged peace talks that the aim of the United States is to gain time for the "de-Americanization" of the war.

Kiem hit again at the U.S. proposal for the simultaneous withdrawal of foreign troops, calling it an absurb request. He said the Saigon government is still insisting that the North Vietnamese troops must withdraw first.

This apparently was a reference to differences reported between Saigon and Washington troop withdrawal.

The U.S. "maneuver is clear," Kiem said. "They want to keep this conference at a standstill so as to gain time in implementing what they call the 'de-Americanization' or "Vietnamization' of the war, that is the strengthening of the puppet army and administration, to use 'de-Americanization' or 'Vietnamese, to drag on the aggressive war . . ."

He referred to U.S. demonstrations against the Vietnam war in this connection, as he did [illegible]k ago in a similar statement.

2 Bodies Recovered

Grave Doubts Expressed For Any Plane Survivors

Wide Hunt Goes On For Crew, Craft

Life Belts, Parts Of Fuselage With Bullet Holes Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bodies of two crewmen from the U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korea have been found in the Sea of Japan and there are grave doubts that any of the 29 other crew members survived, the Pentagon said today.

"We regret to report that the destroyer USS Tucker has recovered the bodies of one officer and one enlisted crew member from the EC121 downed over the Sea of Japan," a Pentagon statement said.

"Individual identifications are being withheld until notification of next of kin has been accomplished.

Gravely Concerned

"We are now gravely concerned about the chances of finding any survivors. The search is being continued."

The Tucker recovered the bodies about 17 miles north of the site where the first signs of wreckage from the plane, a four-engine, propeller-driven converted Super Constellation, were spotted about 120 miles southeast of the North Korean coast, the Pentagon reported.

In addition to the bodies, the destroyer recovered life jackets and pieces of fuselage bearing shrapnel holes, the statement stated.

A wide search for the plane and its 31 crewmen has been under way since the plane was reported missing Monday after North Korea said it had downed the aircraft for allegedly violating its territory.

The bodies were clothed in flying suits but were not wearing life jackets, Japan's Kyodo News Service reported. Kyodo, which did not give its source, also said the bodies were picked up by the U.S. destroyer Tucker.

The recovery of the bodies came as the world waited for President Nixon to break the calculated public silence he instituted after North Korea declared it had destroyed the plane.

Nixon Protest Due

Officials indicated Wednesday the President was expected to issue some sort of protest to North Korea, and there has been no evidence of a change. But no decision had been reported about how this would be done.

Among the choices the administration was understood to have considered was a public statement expressing the United States' protest. The American position also could be made known at the Korean truce site at Panmunjom, if a meeting requested for late tonight—EST—by North Korea is held.

Although North Korea gave no reason for seeking a Panmunjom meeting, the proposal came shortly after the broadcast claiming destruction of the U.S. plane and it was assumed Pyongyang would protest the alleged violation of its territory.

In any event, Nixon is certain to discuss the incident at a Friday morning news conference,

Senate Probe Spurs Action Over Poverty

Washington Slum Landlord Agrees To Fix Tenement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first tangible result from a Senate probe of hunger and poverty in the nation's capital has been the agreement of a slum landlord to start repairs on a tenement apartment Sen. Charles Percy said was a "pigsty."

The Illinois Republican Wednesday told an applauding audience at a theater in one of Washington's black slum areas that he had telephoned the landlord and convinced him to start repairs after he and other members of the Senate hunger committee toured several tenements.

The committee's three days of hearings on poverty and malnutrition in the capital concluded today with a session focusing on, among other things, Washington's high infant mortality rate.

A survey two years ago said only Mississippi had a higher infant death rate than the capital.

Tuesday, Percy visited the four-room apartment of Mrs. Dora Crowder in a run-down, trash-littered area and learned she pays more than half of her $270 monthly welfare check to rent the apartment for herself and six children.

"It was a pigsty. It was terrible," Percy said, noting there were rat holes in the walls, the only toilet had been stopped up

Building Door Smashed

57 Are Arrested In Kent Disorder

BULLETIN

KENT, Ohio (AP) — All but four or five of 57 Kent State University demonstrators arrested Wednesday night on trespassing charges posted $1,000 bonds for their release this morning.

KENT, Ohio (AP)—A 70-man police force surrounded a building on the Kent State University campus Wednesday night and arrested 50 demonstrators who had smashed a door to get inside the building three hours earlier. Seven other students were also arrested and charged with inciting to riot.

Ohio State Highway Patrolmen, assisted by Portage County Sheriff's deputies, Kent City and campus police, escorted the students, who were members of and sympathyzers with Students for a Democratic Society, from the music and speech building.

As they were led to waiting University buses to be taken to the Portage County Courthouse at Ravenna, cheers went up from some 200 students gathered behind a line of police three-deep at the buildings entrance.

A university spokesman said 50 students would be charged with forceable entry. He said 35 of the students were male and 22 female.

The spokesman said the State Highway Patrol made the arrests peacefully after being called in by the campus security chief at the administration's request. He said the action was taken after the students ignored a university request to leave the building.

Between 70 and 100 students

Battle Deaths On Both Sides Drop In Viet

U.S. Toll 204 Last Week; 2,890 Reds Victims In Action

SAIGON (AP) — Battle deaths on all sides dropped last week to their lowest levels since the Viet Cong's winter-spring push began Feb. 23.

The weekly casualty reports said 204 Americans, 244 South Vietnamese military personnel and 2,890 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in action last week. Both the Americans and the South Vietnamese reported increases in the number of their wounded, however, with the U.S. total rising sharply from 1,285 the previous week to 2,691.

Most of the wounded apparently resulted from the nightly rocket and mortar attacks on U.S. military bases that have characterized the enemy offensive. Such attacks frequently cause large numbers of shrapnel wounds. But the drop in the number of dead reflected the slacking off of enemy ground attacks in recent weeks.

Enemy gunners shelled Da Nang: 12 South Vietnamese civilians and two military men and wounding 40 persons. The wounded included one American, 28 Vietnamese civilians and 11 government soldiers.

It was the highest civilian toll in five attacks on South Vietnam's second largest city dur-

They returned to the Courthouse at 10 this morning.

Tax Return Oddities

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some tea bags and a comb were enclosed among the 1,086,000 tax returns received Wednesday by the Mid-Atlantic service center of the Internal Revenue Service.

A New Jersey man sent in the comb, explaining he had pulled out his hair trying to compute his share of the tax burden. The tea bags apparently referred to an earlier tax protest — the Boston tea party.

'Bargain Job' Under $1 Billion

$2 To $3 Billion Cost Seen To Eliminate Poor's Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax experts say President Nixon's goal of eliminating federal incomes taxes for all families living below the poverty line would cost between $2 billion and $3 billion a year if done properly.

A bargain basement job could be done for less than $1 billion annually, they said, but the results would not be good and it would disrupt the tax system.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, the White House counselor and economic specialist in Nixon's inner circle, disclosed Wednesday that relieving the poor of income taxes is one of the administration's ultimate goals.

By one recent official estimate, 11 million families—including single persons living alone—have incomes below the poverty line which is figured as $3,300 a year. But though they are defined as poor by the government, 2.2 million in this group pay federal income taxes.

One informed source said Wednesday that if the only objective was to remove the tax burden from the poor, it could be done for as little as half a billion dollars yearly.

Estimates for a proper program ranged between $2 billion and $3 billion annually. The extra cost, it was explained, would go into designing the program so that when persons below the poverty line finally inch across it they would not be hit by a sudden heavy tax burden.

Burns' disclosure continued a series of tax policy announcements this month in which the administration has taken an increasingly strong position on closing loopholes, especially those favoring the rich, and extending tax relief to those less well off.

Tax technicians said the cost of lifting all income taxes from the poor, even assuming the higher unofficial estimates, could probably be paid with additional revenue brought in by ending some tax abuses.

2 Young Girls Injured When Struck By Auto

Two young city girls were injured Wednesday night on Jefferson St. when they apparently ran in front of an auto about 7:56.

Police reported Deborah Mouse, 8, daughter of Mrs. Eileen Mouse of 633 Jefferson St., and Cathy Biro, 8, daughter of Mrs. Ruthann Biro of 315 Rural Ln., were injured when struck by a car driven by Linda D. Montgomery, 21, of 1710 Nevada St., Wellsville. The mishap occurred on Jefferson, about 79 feet north of the W. 6th St. intersection.

Miss Mouse suffered contusions of the right hip and abrasions to both knees and Miss Biro abrasions of the left elbow.

Miss Montgomery said she was headed north when the two girls ran from the west side of the street into the path of her 1963 station wagon. She said she applied her brakes, but couldn't avoid hitting the youngsters.

Miss Montgomery was not cited by investigating officers.

Two other mishaps occurred Wednesday afternoon about a half - hour apart — one on Walnut St. and the other on W. 4th St.

Autos driven by Vernon K. McDade, 32, of 188 Montana Ave., Chester, and Mrs. Velma J. Poole, 42, of Martha St., crashed about 3:06 p. m. on W. 4th about 60 feet east of the Washington St. intersection.

McDade's 1963 panel truck, owned by the Liverpool Transportation Co. of 237 W. 8th St., received damage to the left front portion of the bumper, while Mrs. Poole's auto was damaged in the right rear fender.

Mrs. Poole said two buses were coming down the street and she pulled over to let them pass and struck the truck, which was parked at a yellow curb. Police issued no citations.

A truck, reportedly owned by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. at Progress Park, Zelienople, Pa., struck a railroad crossing gate at the intersection of Walnut St. and the River Rd. about 3:50 p.m.

A woman who called police said the truck bore the word "Goodyear" on its side.

Officers said they contacted the local store and were informed the Zelienople factory has a truck of the same description. No charges were lodged.

Robert E. Sheets, 43, of 888 Valley Ave. told police Wednesday his was the auto involved in a crash on Pennsylvania Ave. about 3:34 a. m. yesterday when a pole was splintered and a house damaged.

He said he "passed out" and awakened after the crash.

No charges have been filed.

Proponents Expect Support In Direct Vote For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen wanting to change the way America chooses its presidents are expected to win early endorsement of the principle of direct election.

A solid bipartisan majority of the 35-member House Judiciary Committee favors junking the Electoral College and moved to put the committee on record today. But hammering out the language of a constitutional amendment to accomplish such a far-reaching change may prove a difficult task.

However, Chairman Emanuel Celler's goal of quick endorsement of direct election would eliminate a raft of alternative proposals from committee consideration.

One of the options, backed by President Nixon, would divide a state's electoral votes among the presidential candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said he personally favored a popular election amendment but was convinced it was too controversial to win ratification by the necessary 38 states.

Nixon has told Republican leaders in the House that if both the House and Senate approve a direct election amendment he will help in the fight to rally public support for ratification by the states. But until that stage is reached, he is reported to have said he will stay out of the struggle.

Despite the President's position, 10 of the 15 Republicans on the committee are reported to be firmly in favor of direct elections. At least 16 of the 20 Democrats are similarly inclined.

The situation is more fluid when it comes to details of an amendment, which would have to specify provisions for run-off elections, the percentage of the popular vote that would be required to win, and voter qualifications. The committee is expected to wrestle with such matters for some time.

Committee approval of the amendment would be only the first of a series of increasingly formidable barriers that would have to be cleared before the nation finally changed the way it chooses its presidents.

A two-thirds majority is required in both the House and Senate, and backers of direct election in the Senate consider the outlook dim there at the moment. Once congressional approval is obtained, ratification by three-fourths of the states would be needed.

Street Work To Go Ahead On Schedule

Frank DeCapio, Chester Council's street chairman, said today the street sealing program will go forward as scheduled, without delay.

DeCapio said plans call for beginning of the paving program the first of July so that funds from the 1968 budget earmarked for the program may be carried into the new fiscal year and be coupled with the 1969 budget allotment to provide a more complete project.

DeCapio said bids received from two area firms proved too high for the city's budget. He explained the Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co. of Canton bid $22,000 on the job that calls for improvement, through the so-called "seal - coating" process, of some 40 of the city's streets. The Allen Co. of Rochester bid $20,000.

Council expects to spend only about $7,000 or $8,000 so some streets will have to be eliminated from the program, DeCapio said.

He reported the Snyder Co. of Hammondsville will come to Chester Monday to review the streets proposed for the paving program and offer a bid later.

DeCapio pointed out the city has only 800 tons of slag with which to work. He said Council hopes to be able to pave some of the alleys also.

He said the funds for 1968, when coupled with new budget monies, will allow residents to have a better program than in the past.

Meanwhile the vote by which Roy Cashdollar was named to the Second Ward Council post was clarified.

It was 3-0 instead of 3-1 as previously reported.

Councilmen William Tuttle abstained from voting, questioning whether Cashdollar legally can fill the seat beause he also is a member of the city Water Board.

North Korea Following Plan

North Korea's shooting down of a U.S. intelligence plane is not surprising. It is part of a plan carefully calculated to embarrass, or draw the United States into a renewal of the Korean War.

What is surprising is the way the United States is so vulnerable to incidents like capture of the USS Pueblo and the shooting down of the spy plane with a 31-man crew.

WHY SHOULD ANYONE be surprised at North Korean tactics?

Their 1968 activity record shows they attempted numerous commando landings in South Korean fishing boats and killed 10 Ameri- Park, president of South Korea, seized scores of South Korean fishing boats and killed 10 Americans in battles along the demilitarized zone, all in addition to grabbing the Pueblo.

North Korea has several things going for it in pulling off these stunts with international ramifications.

The North Koreans are pretty certain the United States doesn't want to open up a second Asian battle front. But should the United States take military retaliatory steps, the North Koreans have a ready equipment supplier in Russia and a manpower source in Red China.

If the United States continues to steer clear of a combat renewal in Korea, as it tries to extricate itself from Vietnam, the North Korea makes propaganda points with both Moscow and Peking.

Operating within the present set of circumstances, North Korea's actions are predictable rather than perplexing.

The question then is why does the United States continue to be guided by spying practices that enable North Korea to exercise its campaign of hostility and harassment?

After the Pueblo was seized, it was reported to the American public that precautions were being taken to guard against a repeat performance. Obviously the same safeguard steps were needed in the aerial intelligence system also.

A DISPUTE will develop over the location of the plane when it was attacked which will be the basis for any U.S. reaction. Final decisions in the matter will be the responsibility of President Nixon. The President has to take some action.

Diplomatic maneuvering no doubt will take care of the immediate problem of North Korea's action but the big question still will have to be resoved:

Will the United States continue to leave itself wide open to dangerous thrusts from a country little larger than the state of New York?

Each time North Korea takes advantage of a U.S. opening, demands for retaliation all the way to the use of the nuclear bomb are heard.

The calls should be for our military strategists to come up with a new plan and a wider application of sophisticated spying equipment to limit the exposure of the United States to attacks that could lead to rash action on either side.

Don't Bother To Go

What motorist will admit he or she doesn't know all the proper methods of operating an auto?

What driver would confess to consistently making errors in guiding, accelerating, slowing, turning that 2-ton chrome steel monster with which life and limb are endagered daily by inches, semi-seconds?

Would you? If you would, consider some of the suggestions and tips which might save your life or the lives of your family at a "Defensive Driving" seminar to be held Sunday.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will again sponsor the program at the First United Methodist Church, offering tri-state area residents a chance at avoiding accidents.

If you think you really know it all, don't bother to go. From the number of dead and injured we read about daily in this newspaper, you are with the majority of those with blind egotism who will be involved in an accident sooner or later because they didn't choose or didn't know how to avoid it.

County Planning Crossroads

Departure of James Morrissey from the Regional Planning Commission director post at Lisbon has been virtually assured from the beginning of the year.

Morrissey was unhappy with what he considered the restrictive and slow - paced policies of some RPC leaders and with the lack of adequate financing of the RPC programs.

Other RPC representatives were concerned at what they felt was a too - independent attitude of Morrissey along with complaints about the operations of the RPC office in handling applications for subdivision regulations.

It is difficult to separate the complaints against Morrissey from complaints against the new subdivision regulations and other planning operations of the RPC resisted in some quarters since it was founded.

THE COUNTY Commissioners, who are members of the RPC, expressed opposition to the subdivision regulations from the beginning, openly terming them too strict and privately indicating they felt the RPC was usurping some Commissioners prerogatives in jurisdiction over such development plans.

Commissioners have directed a charge at RPC that no major subdivisions have been approved in the county since the new regulations were adopted. However, the regulations were reviewed by a broad - based RPC group for months before final acceptance, and devlopers, realtors, bankers and others indicated support.

There has been no evidence that the regulations have prevented any developer from getting approval of a proposal that would be acceptable within regulations of modern communities and counties across the nation. RPC officials to a man are urgently interested in a growing, progressive county, attracting home owners, industrialists and commercial enterprises, and would not have last month again given full endorsement of the year-old regulations unless convinced they were in the best interests of the county's future.

THE UNFORTUNATE aspect of the planning operation in the county is the uncertainty of its future. Without adequate funds and without a professional director, the county must continue to take a back seat to such developing counties such as Stark, Mahoning and Jefferson in Ohio and Beaver County in Pennsylvania where there are adequate staffs and genuine support.

Failure of the commissioners to provide the needed financial backing places the RPC operation in jeopardy and is contrary to the goals set by county civic and governmental leaders, the state's own Economic Development Department and others.

RPC leaders and residents of Columbiana County concerned about the lagging pace of progress hope the Commissioners will soon be able to revise their evaluation of fund priorities and be able to implement the brand new comprehensive plan which right now seems destined to a very dusty shelf after five years of hard work and thousands of dollars of tax money.

The Eskimo Vote

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Sen. Teddy Kennedy has become a pariah as far as the Republicans are concerned and anything he does from now until 1972 is being viewed with fear and suspicion.

The word is even out on him in Alaska.

Art Buchwald

Two Eskimos were fishing in a hole in the ice about 300 miles north of Nome when they saw a large crowd arriving at their village.

"I wonder what's going on over there," Nikko said.

"It's probably Sen. Kennedy's Senate committee investigating the plight of th Eskimos in Alaska." Tula replied.

"LET'S STAY AWAY from that," Nikko said. "If we have our picture taken with Kennedy, we'll have every Republican in Congress on our backs."

"I guess you're right but I'd be curious to see Kennedy. He may not get up this way very soon again," Rula said.

"Please, Tula. You may want to run for village chief someday. And if you shake hands with Kennedy, the Republicans will bring it up in the campaign. Besides, we still don't have our dinner."

"I can't understand why the fish aren't biting today," Tula said. "Maybe the TV cameras are scaring them away."

"HEY, TULA, why don't we hold a press conference and say Sen. Kennedy and his tour scared all our fish? That could get you launched in politics."

Tula became excited. "Nikko, you're a genius. I'd be on the Huntley-Brinkley and Cronkite shows. I might even make the cover of Life magazine. The Republicans would invite me to address their fund-raising dinners. They'd probably even have me over to the White House with Sen. Dirksen."

"Culturally, it might ruin you to be taken out of your primitive habitat and be thrown into modern civilization but it would still be better than eating fish every night."

"Not to mention getting away from these cold winters," Tula said.

Nikko said, "You could even run for Governor of Alaska on the Republican ticket."

Tula said, "And maybe someday I could become secretary of the interior."

"Hey, look. Isn't that Arni presenting Sen. Kennedy with a seal tusk paperweight?"

"The fool. He's just destroyed his political career," Tula said. "Leave it to Arni to be in the wrong place at the wrong time."

"We'd better go over there and hold our press conference before the TV and newspaper people take off."

"Wait a minute. I think I've got a bite. Yes, I do have a bite. Look, Nikko, it's a big one."

"THROW IT BACK," Nikko shouted. "You'll ruin the press conference."

"Are you crazy? This is my dinner."

"But what about your political career?"

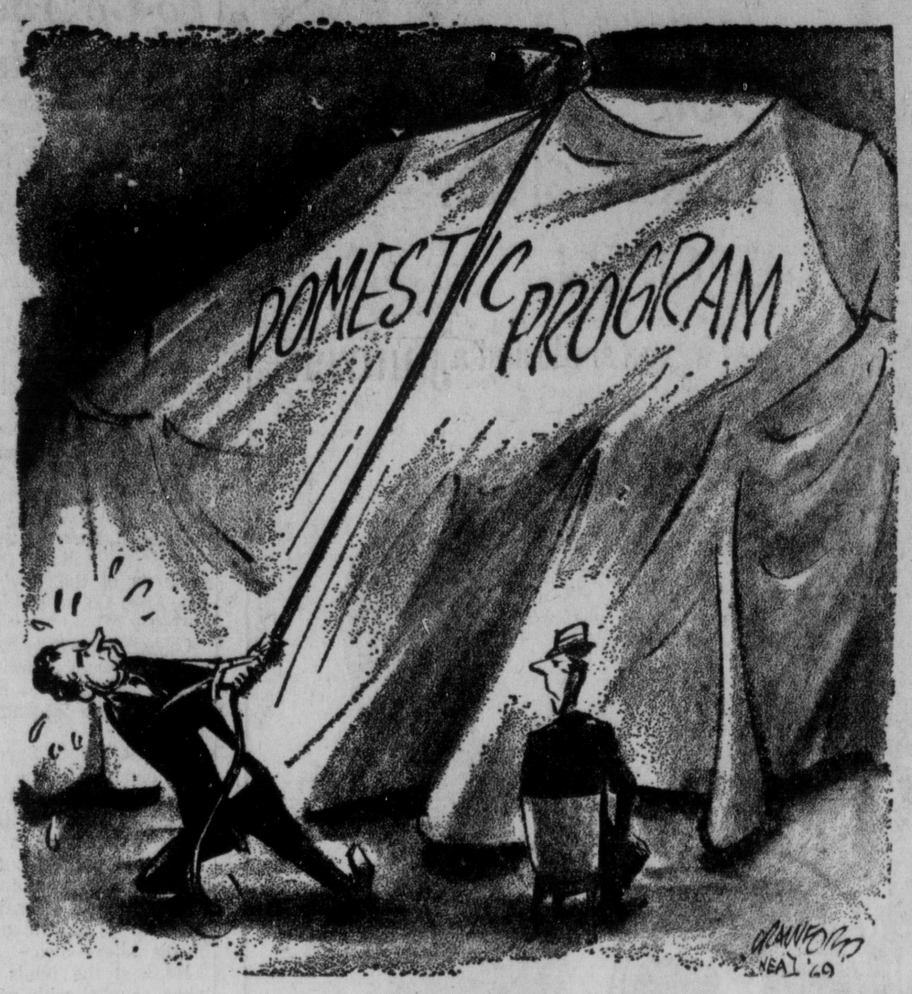
"I'd rather have something to eat tonight, if it's all the same to you."

"Tula, as your campaign manager, I beg you to throw back that fish."

"Not me, Nikko. I'd rather eat than be president."

Nikko shook his head. "No wonder we Eskimos can't get out of our rut."

The Unveiling



VICTOR RIESEL

No White House Meddling

NEW YORK — America's cities, seven of which have seen their mayors quit in polluted midstream recently, just will have to wrestle alone with their police, firefighters and garbage collectors strikes. The U.S. government doesn't believe it can, or should intervene. There will be no federal laws urged or passed to punish the cops, or firemen or "sanitation men" if they talk a walk.

Victor Riesel

That was the message from low-key Secretary of Labor George Shultz who came to this big blight the other day to comfort Mayor John Lindsay (who's not quitting) and to face an assortment of what the old college texts (probably burned by now) called captains of industry. He dined with these giants and a handful of labor men at the bountiful table and bars proffered by the American Arbitration Assn.

It was a rough dinner crowd. It asked direct questions. It got direct answers — but in George Shultz' country boy, gee whiz, fellas, you honor me, style.

To some of us, it seemed to be the first time President Nixon's labor and economic policies were sketched across the entire spectrum.

The full meaning, however, did not hit one until the next morning.

It was all summed up in one gentle poke at Lyndon Johnson's labor adviser, former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg.

"IT WOULD BE NICE to come running out with a pact written on the back of an envelope," said Mr. Shultz of the entire labor-management field, "but Arthur Goldberg has used up all the envelopes.

"The government should take a long hard look," added Mr. Shultz, obviously speaking for the Nixon administraton,"at the municipal field before we get into it . . . . I'm against public strikes. They're not consistant with public service. But I'm against compulsory arbitration."

Such arbitration during a city labor crisis would give the arbitrator or the judge taxing power over the city — since most of the city's costs are labor costs for services — teachers, police, firemen, et al.

Anyone who can set city wages can, in effect, set the taxes, added Mr. Shultz, since pay items are the greatest part of a municipal budget. So while he "deplored" state, county or municipal strikes, he implied, always gently, that he did not think the federal government should intervene.

There were no groans, just dead silence from the group gathered in that old preinauguration White House, the Hotel Pierre. They are fond of Shultzie, this ex-Marine and skilled golfer who breaks 80 and dares to beat AFL-CIO chief George Meany on the links. But they were being told that the White House could not solve this one for them.

On national emergency strikes, there was more comfort for most of the gathering.

"I am sending up some suggested answers to emergency strikes," said the secretary. "And then it will be up to Congress."

NO ONE ASKED WHEN. The impression was — soon. But there's really no timetable set, insiders know. There are not even any concrete answers. Mr. Shultz reflects President Nixon. Neither wants a congressional brawl over strike legislation. They don't want to ram heads with the laborleaders. They want to concentrate on jobs and manpower training and welfare and the monstrosity of the cities.

There are more jobs around than takers. Yet there is an employment problem. This is Mr. Shultz' prime concern — jobs and employment, especially in the central city. The Nixon administration is "result-oriented" he said.

Getting into a knockdown fight with the labor movement would just complicate and supercharge matters and make Congress unmanageable, and that's the last thing Mr. Nixon and his colleagues want.

So despite Mr. Shultz' disclosure that the President would be sending along some general antistrike legislation, it's a long way off.

FOR "EVIDENCE" of White House policy on intervention in emergency strikes, Mr. Shultz said slowly and softly, look at what happened during the dock stoppage. The White House and the Labor Department did not clobber anyone. They just mediated and mediated — quietly and behind the scenes. And the strike ended.

Someone out of earshot of Mr. Shultz said, just as quietly, "Yes, but it lasted 100 days and cost the American economy $4 billion . . . and is still costing scores of millions as the docks are unsnarled."

Of course, earlier Mr. Shultz had said the government just would not tolerate a national railway strike. He would go to Congress. But that insinuated a one-shot deal and not general legislation.

At one point, while talking about keeping wages and prices in line, he hit the keynote of the evening, perhaps of the next four years.

"Let's stop kidding ourselves," said he, the country boy to the sophisticated diners who provided the leaders of the distinguished American Arbitration Assn.'s 16,000 associates and the leadership of American industry as well.

"Let's wait and see," said Mr. Secretary. Meanwhile? Moderation and gradualism on all fronts from the grim strike problem to the "affirmative action" program for jobs for black workers.

If, in the end, said Mr. Shultz, we can't mediate, then we'll pull the trigger and use sanctions. But for the moment, Mr. Nixon's philosophy, it appears, will prevail: no slogans, gradualism, no clobbering, just be "result-oriented."

Berry's World

"Your story isn't very vile and vulgar, but I'm going to stick my neck out and use it anyway!"

DAVID LAWRENCE

Integration

WASHINGTON — Congress, in a 1968 law, forbade utilization of federal funds as a means of coercing public school systems to bus students or take other action in order to "overcome racial imbalance."

The Supreme Court has ruled against deliberate segregation but has not, in effect, compelled "integration" in the schools where racial proportions vary according to residential circumstances. The school boards of the country nevertheless are perplexed as to what they can and cannot do.

Carl F. Hansen won high praises as superintendent of schools in Washington when he put an end to international segregation of public schools in the nation's capital following the "desegration" decision of the Supreme Court in May 1954.

HE CONTINUED to work toward integration for more than a decade but retired in 1967 rather than comply with an opinion rendered by Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Mr. Hansen, on his own initiative, has just written an article on the situation. It is published in the current issue of "U.S. News & World Report," and he says in part:

"If you live in a small Nevada town — or in one in Iowa or Ohio for that matter — and your schools are mostly white, you may actually be flouting a court ruling that says that racially imbalanced schools run against the Constitution of the United States.

"If your schools have all-white faculties, you may someday be ordered to hire 13 per cent black teachers to make the percentage fit in with the ratio of blacks to whites in the national population.

"If you live in a city like Washington or Chicago, you may someday have to see to it that the proportion of the poor in any school does not exceed the percentage of the poor in the entire city.

"If you refuse to attempt to get a balance between the poor and the nonpoor in your schools through voluntary exchanges across school-district and even state lines, you may find yourself in contempt of court.

Mr. Hansen says these requirements may ultimately result from a doctrine of "de jure integration," which means integration imposed by judicial edict or law.

HE POINTS OUT that Judge Wright did not confine himself merely to racial factors but dealt with "social imbalance as well," and that the ruling had overridden the conclusions of at least eight federal courts which had said that it is not the duty of a board of education to eliminate segregation arising from natural causes.

He cites what happened in New York City where, four and a half years ago, two schools, one mostly white and the other Negro, were "paired" with the promise that the race ratio would be 65 per cent whites and 35 per cent black in each of the two schools. Today the white enrollment is down to 35 per cent in each. He adds:

"Washington is an example of very rapid changes in race ratios over a period of a few years. From 1950 to 1967, the white school membership dropped from 46,736 to 11,784 while the black membership jumped from 47,980 to 139,364.

"Enrollment figures show that formerly all-white Washington public schools invariably moved to 75 per cent black membership two years after the 50 per cent point was reached. In each such school, the black membership quickly moved thereafter to 99 per cent.

"The new and important discovery was that when a formerly all-white school approached 30 per cent black membership, the rate of change increased. Within two years, the black membership reached the 50 per cent point, from which it moved to 75 per cent within the next two years. The important finding is that the starting point for rapid white exodus is 30 per cent.

"A POLICE STATE with unlimited enforcement power will be needed to implement integration if it is required by law."

The emphasis at first was placed on eliminating intentional segregation. The courts have been reluctant, however, to say that, if a school district happens to be in a predominantly white or Negro area, it is obliged to bus children from other parts of the city or suburbs to bring about a "racial balance."

Now the question is arising as to how far the states and cities, of their own accord and in response to local demands, will find themselves moving in the direction of artifical "integration."

ANN LANDERS

Send Unfit To Vietnam?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Do you realize that more than 30,000 of our young men have been killed in Vietnam?

As an American girl who is not gorgeous, brilliant, chic or stacked, I would have a tough enough time getting a guy without the added problem of this terrible shortage of males on the marriage market. At the rate we're going, about 100 women a week become either widows or spinsters.

Wny don't we send the drug addicts, the cripples and the physically unfit to fight the war and leave the healthy young men at home to lead normal lives and beget normal, healthy children? What's the answer? — FRIGHENED BY STATISTICS.

Dear Frightened: There are no easy answers. At least I don't know of one. I will not discuss the merits of the Vietnan War (or the lack of merit) but I will say, the horrible and illogical aspect of any war is that it does indeed kill off the flower of our youth — the young men whose unborn children would have been an asset to the nation and to the world.

Unfortunately, no country can afford to put its dregs into uniform. A war must be bought by the cream of the crop because they'll be pitted against the very best men the enemy can muster. Insane, isn't it?

Took Wrong Road

Dear Ann: Your excellent advice to "Star Sister" prompts me to write my first letter to any columnist.

That letter really struck home because I fell into the same miserable trap and have been paying for it ever since. I was one oof those foolish young women who married a man I didn't love because he "cried when I tried to break off with him."

You can't imagine the heartaches, the tragedy and the ugliness that marriage brought to the lives of at least 10 people. How I wish there had been an Ann Landers to write to 35 years ago!

As you suggested, the girl should urge the young man to get professional help— then drop him. Without help he'll surely attach himself to some unsuspecting person and ruin her life. — IT HAPPENED TO ME.

Dear Friend: A letter from one who has been there is much more effective than any advice I might offer. Thanks for stepping forward.

Needling Nurse

Dear Ann: Our school nurse is a hard-boiled sourpuss who hates teen-agers. The only way a person can get sent home is to be pronounced officially dead by the coroner.

During the flu epidemic Miss Sourpuss gave shots to the kids who brought signed okays from home. You should have seen the black-and-blue marks. She must have used square needles. Some of our parents got awfully mad about it.

How come our family doctors can give shots and not leave a single mark? What did Sourpuss do wrong? — OUTCHI-THURTS.

Dear Ouch: When a shot leaves a black and blue mark it means the needle hit a vein. This is not serious and some of the best doctors do it occasionally.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

GUY ENSINGER
Receives Scholarship.

Guy D. Ensinger Will Attend OSU On ROTC Grant

Guy Daniel Ensinger, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ensinger of 874 Logan St., has been awarded a full ROTC scholarship to Ohio State University.

The scholarship pays all tuition and book and fee expenses, as well as $50 monthly. Upon completion of college, Ensinger will fulfill his military obligations.

He will receive the monthly allowance with the exception of summer camp, at which time he will receive one-half the pay of a second lieutenant. Col. Andrew G. Sterrett, ROTC instructor, said that because Ensinger is planning to major in engineering, the scholarship will amount to more than $8,000.

Ensinger, a senior at the high school, is active in DeMolay, Key Club, is a member of the National Honor Society and served as basketball manager.

He has a sister Cynthia, 14, and a brother, Mark, 11.

Palestine Driver Faces Charge Of 'Leaving Scene'

An East Palestine driver was cited for leaving the scene of two accidents within five minutes of each other.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the first occurred on Route 14 when a westbound car driven by Edna M. Hirt, 53, of 405 W. North Ave., East Palestine, was struck by a southbound auto driven by Donald F. Tomaske, 34, of 279 Park Ave., East Palestine.

Tomasek failed to stop following the collision, the patrol said, and five minutes later, on Route 165, about a half - mile north of Route 14, started to pass another southbound car operated by Mrs. Beverly A. Quinn, 21, of New Castle, when his auto was forced back into the lane of traffic by a northbound vehicle and struck the Quinn auto in the rear.

Tomasek again left he scene of the accident, but later returned, the patrol said.

Mrs. Quinn complained of injuries, but said she would contact her family physician.

Mrs. Osborne, outgoing president, appointed an auditing committee of Mrs. Buchman, Mrs. Stout and Mrs. Dorothy Rose.

Robert Westcott, music instructor, announced the high school and junior high concert has been set tentatively for May 13.

Man To Be Examined In 'Exposure' Charge

Vincent A. Diserio of 415 College St. was ordered sent to Woodside Receiving Hospital, Youngstown, for examination after a hearing this morning in Municipal Court on a charge of indecent exposure.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Vivian Gilbert, a neighbor. She and Mrs. Ilene Keener, also of College St., testified and said two girls, 9 and 10, were near by at the time of the incident.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff found Diserio guilty, but delayed sentencing until a report is received from the hospital.

Engineer Speaks For Meeting Of County Firemen

Bert A. Dawson Jr., Columbiana County engineer, was guest speaker when the County Firemen's Association met Wednesday night at the Calcutta station.

He discussed county bridges and the road maintenance program.

Host firemen reported plans complete for the county unit's annual training course April 27 and May 4 at the Calcutta station.

Chester Henry of the Ohio fire marshal's office was a guest. Joe Wilson of Hanoverton, president, was in charge.

The association is planning a tour to the Pittsburgh airport May 18 to inspect its firefighting equipment. The Calcutta firemen served coffee and doughnuts.

24 Bills Ask Change In Ohio Liquor Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty - four bills aimed at changing Ohio's liquor laws were introduced into the Ohio House Wednesday.

One would prohibit the operation of "bottle" clubs and "locker" operations of unlicensed establishments.

Others would permit Sunday Liquor sales if voters in a municipality approve and exempt from prosecution permit holders who sold to a minor on the basis of a false indentification card.

The DOCTOR Says

Find Cause, Then Treat Bony Spurs

Q—My husband has bony spurs on his heels. What is the cause and what treatment should he get?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Bony spurs of the heel are seen chiefly in men who are over 50 and are overweight. Poorly fitted shoes and arthritis may also be factors in the cause. The treatment must aim at removing the cause if possible. The inside of the shoes should be padded to take the pressure off the tender spot. Surgical removal of the spur is rarely advisable and, when it is done, the spur may form again, especially if the cause is still present.

Q—How long does it take for complete recovery from a broken femur? What could cause incomplete healing?

A—Fracture of the femur takes three to six months to heal. The slower healing is seen in the elderly. In older persons with a fracture of the neck of the femur, usually referred to as a fractured hip, a solid union is delayed or may fail because of the poor circulation in this portion of the bone, because of an imperfect alignment of the fragments or, in the case of an open fracture, because of infection.

Q—What is the cause of acute pyogenic osteomyelitis? What are the symptoms? Is it serious? Can it be cured?

A—This is a pus-forming infection of the bone marrow. It is usually caused by a streptococcus or staphylococcus. In the acute stage the symptoms are pain over the infected bone, chills, fever and loss of appetite. Since the discovery of antibiotics it is rarely fatal but it can become a chronic disabling disease unless it is promptly controlled. The infected marrow must be scraped out surgically before effective antibiotic treatment can be applied.

Q—What is the cause of Bell's Palsy? Is there any cure?

A—One-sided facial paralysis may be caused by a severe blow to the side of the head, exposure to cold, infection or a tumor pressing on the facial nerve. You should protect your face from the cold since this will aggravate the condition. Drugs of the cortisone group may be helpful if given early in the course of the disease. About 80 per cent of the victims recover spontaneously in about nine weeks.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

New Cumberland Sets Sewage Refund Plans

NEW CUMBERLAND—A plan was set up here Wednesday night for repayment of money to residents incorrectly billed for sewage service.

The action was taken during a joint session of Council and the water sewage board and Mayor Arthur Watson.

The report will be forwarded to the Public Service Commission at Charleston in line with the commission's order for a progress report on the matter each 30 days.

A hearing was held last Oct. 2 at Charleston and the commission submits its findings in a letter to New Cumberland officials Feb. 27.

Don Lemasters represented the water board at Wednesday night's meeting.

The state commission not only instructed the refunding of money to non-sewer customers but called for certain improvements in the water system.

Council approved legislation refunding money, plus interest, to the 30 persons listed by the PSC.

Mrs. Nedra Schlee, city clerk, said the plan for repayment is as follows: All sewage revenue from regular customers will be held back until the $2,700 due non-sewage customers is refunded. When that amount is accumulated, customers will be notified as to how and when they can receive their refund.

Another meeting is scheduled Friday night on the refunds.

The city has three months in which to make payment.

Mayor Watson announced a special public Council meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the city building. Dr. Vernon Wyland will discuss the city's new playground which is being constructed on property owned by the Hancock County board of education.

Plane

to be broadcast live by television and radio networks.

Nixon's silence was pictured by officials as reflecting the decision he made after being notified of the North Korean claim to say nothing until all the facts werre known about the loss of the EC121.

Before today, the only White House reaction came from press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who described Nixon as following the situation very closely and discussing it with his advisors. Of course, he said, the chief executive deplores the loss of any American lives.

Nixon canvassed developments Wednesday with his National Security Council before, late in the day, meeting for 90 minutes with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

The American silence was contrasted by North Korea's public statement since it first broadcast the claim of destroying the plane.

Claims Desire For War

North Korean Defense Minister Gen. Ghoi Hyun said Thursday the incident demonstrates a United States desire to ignite a new war in Korea.

In a congratulatory message to the unit credited with shooting down the American plane, Choi said the reconnaissance flight was a "brigandish provocative act comitted by the U. S. imperialist aggressors as part of their planned war preparations for igniting a new war in Korea."

The Pentagon has denied in strong terms that the plane, a Super Constellation modified for electronic surveillance, flew over North Korea.

"From a variety of sources, some of them sensitive, we are able to confirm that at all times during the mission the aircraft was far outside any claimed territorial airspace of North Korea," a Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday.

tion of a protest, there was no immediate evidence Nixon planned armed retaliation. An alternative short of this could be a beefing up of U. S. defenses in the area, especially for future surveillance flights.

No Show Of Might

Orders to the carrier Kitty Hawk and two destroyers to sail from Hong Kong on a secret mission—shortly after their arrival there from Vietnam—were described as a part of contingency planning rather than a calculated show of military might against North Korea.

Congressional response has been restrained since the incident came to light.

General Senate reaction fell far short of demands for armed retaliation. Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., normally hawkish, said military reaction could precipitate a second U.S. involvement in Asia that the public would find hard to understand or accept.

He advised a "strong high level warning" that any repetition would bring a response befitting a hostile act.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., commented, "I don't think anybody should make any statements until we know more about it."

ing the eight - week offensive. But Vietnamese and American firemen kept a blaze touched off by one rocket from spreading to 10 big oil storage tanks close by.

The Da Nang attack was one of about 15 during the night against military bases and civilian population centers and the enemy offensive moved into its 54th day.

Forty mortar rounds hit the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's Diamond III base northwest of Saigon and just east of the Cambodian border, where 200 or more of the enemy were killed in a battle Monday night.

The U.S. Command said the mortar barrage Wednesday night caused no casualties, but a sweep of the area after dawn produced the bodies of 20 North Vietnamese who apparently were killed by helicopter gunships and artillery that went into action during the bombardment of the base.

The number of enemy "indirect fire" attacks during the night was typical of the past month of the offensive, now in its eighth week. It was only slightly above the average number of nightly attacks before the offensive began Feb. 23, but U.S. military officials maintain that the offensive is still going on.

U.S. officials responsible for the defense of the Saigon area say intelligence reports vary as to how long the offensive is to continue. One date that has turned up in recently acquired evidence is May 30.

One of these officers commented: "We say it's an offensive because the enemy does. We obviously have no way of knowing when it will end, except by what the enemy tells us."

Da Nang, on the coast about 400 miles northeast of Saigon, was attacked just before and just after midnight. It was the first attack on the city in nearly a month although it has been a frequent target because of its many bases and installations.

Paul McCraw, 9-year-old East End youngster who received a kidney transplant April 3 at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, remains in "satisfactory condition at the hospital.

A high fever the youngster was suffering over the weekend has been reduced, the family reports, but apparently there remains uncertainty over functioning of the new kidney.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St., the boy and a Beaver Falls area girl received the kidneys of a 9-year-old girl who died just prior to the operation.

More than $2,200 has been contributed by tri - state area residents toward the mounting hospital bills for the boy in a fund administered by The Review.

for months and there was no hot water.

As a result of his phone call, he said, "This morning, for the first time, two plasterers and a general repairman showed up at 7:30.

"We recognize this is the case, and we intend to do something about it."

But not everyone was convinced the start would be continued.

Gaming Action Brings Acquittal

WHEELING — A Pittsburgh area man, convicted last year of traveling interstate to promote gambling in Hancock County, was acquitted Tuesday in U. S. District Court here.

Judge Robert E. Maxwell directed the acquittal of Joseph Santoriello, one of the Pittsburgh men arrested in the November 1967 raid on the Red Dog Casino, two miles east of Chester.

Judge Maxwell said his decision for acquittal rather than for a new trial was based on a 1962 ruling by the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va. He said that he was not holding that the law under which Santoriello was arrested and convicted is unconstitutional, but that the evidence as presented by federal attorneys was "not sufficient to support the guilty verdict" returned by the jury in March 1968.

Judge Maxwell continued that conviction on a charge of traveling interstate for gambling purposes requires proof that the defendant "promoted or facilitated" the game. Testimony at Santoriello's trial did not prove conclusively that the Pittsburgh man was an employe of the Red Dog even though he was seen "walking around in the gaming area."

Santoriello is the last of those arrested as the result of the Hancock raids to have his case concluded. The others cited were either acquitted or received suspended sentences.

Policeman's Wife Nabbed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dorothy Billings, the 31-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh policeman, was unaware when she started home from a bakery shop that her her next half hour would be one of terror.

As she approached her home in Pittsburgh Wednesday afternoon, police said, she was pulled into a black Cadillac by three men. For the next 30 minutes, she was beaten and threatened.

The men said they would kill Mrs. Billings unless she convinced her husband to back down on an arrest he made several months ago, police said.

paign, reported receipts of $33,881, or $881 more than for the 1967 campaign.

Eighty-five per cent remains in the county for the local program of education and service, he said, while 7 per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association and 8 per cent to the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mrs. M. D. McCutcheon of East Liverpool received a gold charm with double-barred cross for 30 years' service. Mrs. Arlene Scotton of Wellsville received a double-barred cross pin for 10 years' service. Lawrence made the presentations.

F. H. Bezdek of Lisbon RD, alternate representative director to OTHA, read a tribute in memory of the late E. S. Kerr, Salem educator, who served the health league from 1946 until his death July 29, 1968.

Lillian R. Schroeder of Salem, executive director, said the TB association, in line with the national association, is expanding its fight against tuberulosis to include emphysema, air pollution and cigarette smoking.

She said 9,240 received free chest X-rays from the Christmas Seal X-ray unit the past year. The total included 944 workers in industries and 8,296 in public surveys. Heart and cardiovasular abnormalities totaled 179, she said, and 214 persons were in need of further study because of conditions such as emphysema, bronchitis, pneumoconiosis and tumors.

Miss Schroeder noted that the health league cooperated with the County Medical Society and County Health and Safety Council in promoting "Measles Sunday" last July 14 when more than 2,000 children received vaccine.

She said the health league keeps abreast of all proposed health legislation through the OTHA's legislative committee. She said Senate Bill 1 would require annual TB examinations for those entering school, selected grades and all personnel in Ohio schools.

Donald Elliott of Rogers, representative director to the OTHA, reported that TB associations last year followed Ohio's lead to protest successfully against the national organization's idea of larger local organizations with greater dependence on the national unit for guidance.

National also withdrew its proposal that its authority be broadened to permit it to assume control of the assets of constituent and affiliate organizations whenever they failed to comply with requirements of its contract, Elliott said.

The league last September completed purchase of a lot and frame church hall north of its office on N. Market St.

Dr. Frits van der Kuyp, medical director of the Cuyahoga County tuberculosis control program, was guest speaker.

He termed an undiagnosed and unsuspected case of active TB in a community "a real hazard."

He needed a need for expanded clinic services, since the hospital stay of TB patients has been shortened. He said hours should be reasonably acceptable to the patients and suggested evening or Saturday morning hours.

The speaker recommended large - scale use of INH (isoniazid) to protect family contacts of TB patients, shortening hospitalization and allowing patients to return to work, involving the private physician in case - finding and drug therapy, and expanding and updating laboratory services.

had broken into the building in the afternoon by smashing a glass door. The breakin came after a campus rally attended by more than 1,000 students.

Officials had ordered the building locked earlier because of a closed student-faculty hearing on last week's suspension of Colin Neiburger, a Baltimore, Md. student and SDS member.

Neiburger and seven other students were suspended last week after a clash between SDS members and university police when the students tried to force their way into the administration building. The SDS chapter was also suspended by the school.

After entering the music and speech building Wednesday, the students forced a third floor steel door open and stopped the hearing, shouting for an open hearing.

Officials suspended the hearing.

Driver Cited As Car Hits Pole, Office

A Pittsburgh motorist who said he fell asleep at the wheel was cited by Hancock County sheriff deputies after his car struck a utility pole and building on Washington St. in Newell at 4:48 a.m. today.

Deputies said the car driven by John Perry Politos was traveling south on Washington St. when it left the roadway. The car apparently struck the utility pole, hit the front of the Rush Insurance Co. office at 436 Washington St., went through a fence near a trailer court then came to rest against another building.

The car was demolished. Politos was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Little League Reports Field Fencing Taken

Five rolls of snow fence to be used for a Little League baseball field are missing, City Auditor Lawrence Zollinger, league treasurer, reported today.

Zollinger said they were among eight rolls taken to the Farrell Field on the Campground Rd. last week for erection Tuesday prior to the opening of the season.

He said the rolls of fencing, 15 in all, were purchased last year at a cost of about $9.50 each for use at the various parks.

Zollinger said he notified the constable in the area of the theft.

There is no truth to the belief that you have to split a crow's tongue before it can talk.

What's Second Degree Murder?

Jury In Sirhan's Case Asking Pointed Question

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tense, weary and unsmiling, defendant and jury eyed each other in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial as the jurors asked a pointed question: What is second degree murder in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy?

It indicated, as the jurors went into their fourth day of deliberation today, that they are taking soundings about the doctrine of diminished responsibility on which the defense pins its hopes for a second degree verdict.

The legal instructions for all the verdicts possible in the case —first degree murder, second degree, manslaughter and acquittal—were read to the jury Monday and there is a copy in the jury room. But it's a complicated subject.

Jury foreman Bruce D. Elliott sent a note to Judge Herbert V. Walker Wednesday asking for a rereading of the instruction that defines second degree murder.

The buzzer sounded in the courtroom and 36 minutes later, Sirhan and his lawyers, the prosecutors, all the various court personnel and the judge were assembled. It was the first time they were together since the jury began its deliberations Monday.

Judge Walker reread the paragraph and said he would read another instruction that would make the point clearer.

The new explanation, read rapidly and nonstop by the judge, went like this:

"If you find from the evidence that at the time the defendant shot and killed Sen. Robert Kennedy his mental capacity had been substantially reduced, whether caused by mental illness or intoxication or a combination of mental illness and imbibing intoxicating beverages, or any other cause, or if you find that the defendant's mental capacity was diminished or reduced to the extent that you have a reasonable doubt whether he did or could maturely and meaningfully premeditate, deliberate and reflect upon the gravity of his contemplated act or form an intent to kill, you cannot convict him of a willful, deliberate or premeditated murder of the first degree but you may find him guilty of murder in the second degree if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that he had the mental capacity to harbor or entertain malice aforethought."

The 69-year-old judge then peered over his glasses at the jury and said: "Does that clarify it for you?"

The seven men and five women in the jury box nodded solemnly and were sent back to their room one flight up. An hour later they adjourned for the night, still without reaching a verdict.

Sirhan looked more worried than he did at any time during the 14 weeks of trial. He seemed to study each juror's face intently.

The prosecution asked for a verdict of first degree murder, which requires a subsequent penalty trial to determine whether the sentence is death or life in prison. Parole, under a first degree life sentence, is theoretically possible after seven years.

A second degree verdict, with an indeterminate sentence of five years to life, was asked by the defense. The California Adult Authority sets the term at some future date, but parole is theoretically possible after 3½ years.

Patrol's Use In Riots Pushed By Crime Head

By JOHN R. THOMAS

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Allowing the use of the Ohio Highway Patrol in local riots would remove two areas where mistakes have been made by other law enforcement agencies, the head of the Ohio Crime Commission and said Wednesday night.

Robert Macklin was testifying on a bill that would allow the patrol to be sent into a riot situation by the governor upon request by mayors or sheriffs.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-Canton, passed the House several weeks ago and received its first Senate hearing before the judiciary committee Wednesday night.

MACKLIN said the crime commission found that two mistakes which have been made in riot situations were failure to provide sufficient numbers of men early enough and overreaction by those forces brought in.

He said he feels the Ohio Highway Patrol would rectify the mistakes. Reiterating testimony given earlier by Patrol Supt. Col. Robert M. Chairamonte, Macklin said the patrol could send in 100 men in one hour's notice and 200 in 1½ hour's time.

He also noted "that patrolmen are more tolerant and capable of dealing with problems in riot situations than other forces."

During testimony, Levitt alluded to the growing opposition to the bill by sheriffs by saying, "I understand there are rumblings of discontent by certain local law enforcement officers in Ohio. However, the interest of the people is paramount, not the particular interest or organized law enforcement agencies."

He was referring to the Buckeye State Sheriffs Association, which has been writing letters to legislators asking the bill's defeat in the Senate.

Levitt also guided the measure through the House two years ago, only to see the governor's office kill it.

Asked if he knew why the governor apparently has dropped his opposition to the bill now, Levitt said, "I wouldn't want to venture a guess on that question."

"However, several of about 16 sheriffs in the audience were asked why they thought the governor had dropped his opposition.

"He wants a state police force," many said.

In other testimony, Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Delcorso said the "patrol has no peer with any other police agency."

"Experience has shown us that to stop violence, we must stop the action at its inception. If a few men can't stop it, it can at least be contained until more men can be brought in," the general said.

MOST OF the sheriffs' opposition to the bill revolves around what they say is unclear language concerning their authority. They claim that they are being bypassed when the bill allows mayors to request patrol help from the governor.

"As the statutory and constitutional chief law enforcement officers in the state, we (the sheriffs) should be consulted on every step," one sheriff said after the hearing.

In addition to Levitt, Delcorso and Chiaramonte, representatives of the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police and the Columbus police department testified for the bill.

The sheriffs say they will testify against the bill during a future hearing, a step they failed to do when the measure was in House committee.

Also opposing the bill is organized labor, although the House amended the bill on the floor to exempt labor strikes from patrol action.

Labor, however, is not expected to testify against the bill in hearing, although individual legislators probably will be hearing from labor leaders as the bill nears the end of committee hearings and heads for a floor vote.

City Youngsters Offered Bicycle Check And Tape

The second annual "Lite A Bike" program of East Liverpool VFW Post 66 will be held Saturday afternoon.

City youngsters have been invited to have special red reflector tape placed on their bicycles in a campaign to make cycling safer on the city's streets.

Al Dray of 933 Bank St., district VFW chairman for the project, said the program will include inspection of the bicycles, tests of the rider's ability and application of the reflectorized tape as a supplement to the proper lighting equipment.

The sessions will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. at the city's four fire stations — East End, North Side, Central and Pleasant Heights.

VFW members will be assisted by city firemen and members of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Some 150 children visited the centers last year, but more than 500 are expeted this year, Dray said.

The reflective tape is supplied without cost to the VFW national headquarters by the Three M Co.

Harry Deem, post commander, will be in charge at the Pleasant Heights station, Dray at Central, Harold Martin at East End and Bob Carroll at North Side.

Iraq Sounds Objections To Guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi government has told Palestinian guerrilla organizations that it objects to their presence in Iraq, the Communist newspaper Al Nida said today.

The paper published the text of a recent note from Iraq's ruling revolutionary council to the main guerrilla organizations. Guerrilla sources here indicated the published note was authentic.

Signs of friction between the Iraqi government and the guerrilas appeared earlier this month when the Baghdad regime stopped broadcasting communiques issued by Al Fatah, the largest of the guerrilla organizations. The broadcasts were mainly beamed to the Persian Gulf emirates, whose people contribute large sums to the guerrillas.

The Baath party regime in Iraq also formed its own guerrilla group, called the Arab Liberation Front, and said its activities will be ideological as well as military.

Despite its refusal to cooperate with the guerrillas, the Iraqi regime of President Ahmed Hassan Al Bakr has rejected a political settlement with Israel.

Group Begins File Of Items For Display

LEETONIA — The Columbiana County Historical Association Wednesday night began compiling a file of antique items readily available for display at special events.

John Simonds of Leetonia RD presided during the dinner meeting in the St. Patrick School auditorium.

A window display of historical items of countywide interest is being planned for the Johnny Appleseed Festival Sept. 18-20 in Lisbon.

Simonds appointed Miss Marian Blood of Salem chairman of a committee to contact local historical societies and work with them in conducting a survey of historical landmarks. The project is under the auspices of the Eastern Ohio Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Simonds read a letter from the County Forests and Parks Council thanking the association for obtaining a marker for Williamsport Chapel in Beaver Creek State Park.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. May 13 in the Salem Masonic Temple, with the Salem Historical Society as host. Joseph Belan Jr. of Salem will discuss primitive and early Spanis architecture in Mexico.

A tour of the River Museum in Wellsville is being planned for the June meeting, Simonds said.

Meeting Slated For Two-County Police Program

City planning coordinator Don Eckert will attend a subcommittee meeting of District 8, Council of Governments, Friday with the group's newest member — Ronald Gause, special investigator for County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis.

Eckert said Gause was appointed by Bettis after the prosecutor declined to serve because of his work load.

The four-man committee will meet in Alliance to study the two offices which are planned for Columbiana and Stark counties. Arrangements will be made then for interviews for personnel to staff the offices.

Eckert said any law enforcement officer interested in the job could contact him or Gause. Eckert said the applicant should have a thorough knowledge of law enforcement, public relations and a sense of planning.

The offices will assist cities in obtaining federal funds for training, equipment and improvements to the overall department program. Some building funds may be available also.

Eckert said he will attend a meeting of the American Society of Planning Officials Monday through Wednesday at Cincinnati along with an Ohio Planning Conference meeting there.

Mansfield Gives Nixon Legislative Plans Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield with a few exceptions, has given good marks to President Nixon's newly detailed legislative program.

"By and large I approve of what he has suggested," Mansfield said in an interview. "I am pleased to note that he has placed strong emphasis on peace as his first priority."

The Montana senator also said the President's proposed budget changes and planned revisions of existing programs add up to "a cautious and careful" approach to domestic problems.

Mansfield said he approves of Nixon's plan to increase funds for fighting crime and the proposal to extend tax credits to encourage private business plant investment in ghetto areas.

But, Mansfield said, he thinks Congress should slash spending by an additional $1 billion to add to the $4 billion cut proposed by the President. Nixon wants a budget for fiscal 1970 of $192.9 billion, $4 billion under former President Johnson's figure.

Nixon said the trimming is necessary to fight inflation, which he has indicated is among the first orders of domestic business.

Mansfield also said he does not regard Nixon's proposal for a 7 per cent increase in social security benefits as sufficient. He said the increase should be around 10 per cent.

Mansfield indicated he thinks Nixon will win his fight to close 59 Job Corps centers, a move some Democrats have lined up to fight.

"I think the advantage is on the President's side in this controversy," said Mansfield who himself has expressed misgivings over the closings. "Once you begin to dismantel these centers it becomes harder to reinstate them and a good deal more costly, too boot."

Mansfield's pleasure over Nixon's program is not shared by all his Democratic colleagues.

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin said earlier that the $4 billion budget cut is "grossly inadequate." Government spending should be sliced $12 billion to allow expiration of the 10 per cent income surtax, which would be "far better inflationary medicine," he said.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, another Wisconsin Democrat, was critical of Nixon's proposed spending cuts, but for different reasons. He indicated the slash, which includes a $390 million trimming of "human resources" programs is going in the wrong direction.

Instead, he proposed spending an additional $1 billion for combatting hunger and extending the War on Poverty for five years, instead of the one year advocated by Nixon.

This would make "a really meaningful war on hunger" possible, he said.

Huge Antenna Gets Plugged Into Global Network Monday

HONOLULU (AP) — A huge antenna that can snatch a space whisper and turn it into a loud message gets plugged into a global satellite network next Monday.

The antenna, taller than a 10-story building, will lock onto an Intelsat 3, a commercial communications satellite hanging in orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific Ocean.

It will forge a new major link in overseas communications between Hawaii and the U.S. mainland and Japan and the Philippines, Thailand and Australia.

Addition of the 390-ton antenna will make Hawaii's Paumalu earth station the world's largest for commercial satellite communications.

The antenna, 97 feet across, will pull in the faint signals from the Intelsat 3 and sort them into a telephone call or a color television program.

With it, say the experts, a Hawaii resident telephoning Tokyo will hear the voice at the other end as clearly as if it were coming from the house next door.

The big dish also will handle signals that will keep hundreds of teletypes chattering across the wide Pacific basin—all in a fraction of a second.

The second Intelsat 3 satellite was launched Feb. 5. It is part of a series that began with the world's first commercial communications satellite, Early Bird, which flew into space from Cape Kennedy in 1965.

The two Intelsat 3s, each capable of handling 1,200 two-way voice circuits, are five times more powerful than their commercial predecessors.

Hawaii's Paumalu earth station is one of six U.S. stations located in five states and Puerto Rico. It sits on a bluff overlooking the ocean about 40 miles north of Honolulu.

The mainland stations are at Andover, Maine, Brewster Flat, Wash., Etam, W.Va., and Jamesburg, Calif.

They are jointly owned by communications firms under a formula set by the government.

The tour included the nursing unit built in 1964 and also the older buildings which recently have been remodeled.

The Auxiliary hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. William Horger and Mrs. Janis Lauva, presented 30 dozens of cookies to the home residents.

Refreshments were served to the members after a brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Stephen Sinclair, president.

The annual Rose Luncheon will be held May 20 at 12:30 p.m. at the Salem Golf Club. Mrs. Virgil Hart, chairman, said guests are welcome.

The Crusades began before 1100 and lasted nearly until 1300.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean a suede jacket?

A.—This is best done by a professional. But one often-successful method consists of rubbing the suede throughly with a mixture of equal parts fuller's earth and alum, then following with a good brushing.

Q.—How can I prevent nylon cord or twine from fraying at a cut end?

A.—By heating the cut end over a small flame. Nylon will melt and the strands will bond into a solid unit. Knots can be prevented from working loose by this same treatment.

Pennsylvania Senate Okays 6% Sales Tax

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania General Assembly has proved once again the age-old axiom that there is nothing as permanent as a temporary tax.

By a vote of 36-6, the Senate passed a bill Wednesday that would maintain the state sales tax at 6 per cent. The levy is scheduled to revert to 5 per cent July 1.

The measure, approved last month by the House, was sent to Gov. Shafer who, according to an aide, will sign it into law.

"The governor has advocated passage of this bill to assure at least continuation of government revenues at the current levels," the aide explained.

Passage of the tax bill climaxed the legislative work week. Both House and Senate adjourned until next Monday afternoon.

The House met only 40 minutes and postponed action on any controversial bills because of absenteeism. Two relatively minor measures were approved.

The sales tax was raised temporarily in January 1968 to make up for revenue lost during a six-month legislative fight over the governor's 1967 tax program.

In order to gain votes for the 6 per cent rate, the Republican sponsors inserted provision that the tax would return to 5 per cent in mid-1969.

The bill to make the 6 per cent rate permanent was seen by supporters on both sides of the aisle as an alternative to the governor's proposed income tax.

Shafer viewed the sales tax bill as merely a stop-gap measure and was expected to continue his push for an income levy to raise additional revenue.

One of the administration's alternative tax recommendations amounted to a 3 per cent income tax with exemptions and reduction of the sales tax to 5 per cent.

Opposition to the income tax was so strong in the legislature, however, that most observers considered it dead, at least for the 1968 session.

Efforts were under way in both the Appropriations committees of the House and Senate to scale down the governor's $2.5 billion budget requests for fiscal 1969-70.

Grass, New Lighting Slated As Thompson Park Projects

Grass seed was to be planted today at Thompson Park just east of the main entrance where the level area was recently plowed, Joseph Walters, park manager, said.

The soil had become sour and many bare spots developed, bringing the need for the project. Football and softball will be banned on the site to permit park visitors to use the area for walking or resting.

A football field has been provided near Shelter No. 3 and there are two other ball fields in the park, Walters pointed out.

Four portable restrooms have been installed in the park—two along the upper circle near the tennis courts and two near Shelter No. 3.

Walters said the portable facilities were installed for public use until construction is completed on new permanent rest rooms this summer.

He said the board of trustees has authorized closing of the Dewey Ave. Ext. entrance of the park to reduce the traffic hazard to pedestrians and to curb road deterioration.

Motorists have been using the entrance to travel through the park as a shorter route between areas of the city, Walters said. The roads are too narrow for such through traffic, endangering youngsters and causing damage to the roads which the park board must maintain.

The Anderson Blvd. entrance to the lower level of the park will remain open.

To provide better lighting separate master switches will be installed at each tennis court for use on an honor system. The coin-operated boxes which proved inadequate last year will be removed.

Players may turn on the lights when needed, and turn them off when they leave the courts. A coin box will be provided for those wishing to contribute to the cost of electrical power, he said. A clock device will turn off all the lights at 11 p.m.

Moore's Okay Of Salary Could Face Board Test

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. has approved a $15,000 a year salary for newly created Marshall University position in a dispute involving the interpretation of the range of the Modern Budget Amendment to the State Constitution.

In approving the $15,000 figure, Moore overruled a salary of $18,480 a year for the Marshall post that had been approved by the State Board of Education.

Moore's action could lead to a court test initiated by the board, but a board spokesman said it had not decided what course it would take.

At the center of the controversy is former state Finance Commissioner Joseph Peters who had been appointed to the job of director of finance and budget analysis.

The U.S. state with the longest official name is "The State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

Training Program Set For Head Start Work

LISBON — A training course for personnel and parents of children who will attend the nine summer Head Start classes will be held May 23-24 at McKinley School on E. Chestnut St.

Lionel Smith, director of the Columbiana County Community Action Agency, Inc., announced the course at the monthly board meeting Tuesday night at Village Hall. Chairman Alonzo Spencer of East Liverpool presided.

Smith said two new Head Start classes are planned for summer — one at the Salem YWCA and one at Salineville school. East Liverpool and Wellsville will have two classes each, Elkton and East Palestine one each and Lisbon-Leetonia, a combined class at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ north of here.

Smith also announced that the CAA has submitted a proposal to the state, asking financial help in setting up two Senior Citizen centers for residents qualifying under the poverty program.

One would be in the school at the East Liverpool Community Resource Center and the other in the Catholic church hall at Salineville, Smith said. Health services would be offered, he added, along with telephone reassurance, recreation and field trips.

Reports were given by Mrs. Anne King, director of the Southern Community Center at Salineville, and Mrs. Bea Henderson, director of the East Liverpool Resource Center.

Mrs. Georgia Beckwith, Robert Skinner and A. H. Wilson, all of Salneville, were elected to fill vacancies on the 19-member board of trustees.

Daniel Butch of Leetonia, an employe of the County Welfare Department, was elected treasurer, succeeding Don Rudibaugh of Lisbon, resigned. The Rev. Paul Haney of Lisbon took office as vice president, replacing Alfred Stout of New Garden, resigned.

Operation of Head Start will be switched from the Office of Economic Opportunity to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare about July 1, according to information received by Smith.

Robert H. Finch, HEW secretary, said Head Start will be operated through a new Office of Child Development which will be located in his immediate office and report directly to him.

His letter to the county CAA said the new office will be designed to carry out President Nixon's expressed commitment to needs of children from birth to five years of age. The secretary said he will form an ongoing advisory committee on child development.

Smith said he was glad to read the secretary's statement that he will encourage replacement of many Head Start summer programs with full - year programs.

Columbiana County has three year-round Head Start centers, two in East Liverpool and one in Wellsville.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip Offered Home Sewer

DEAR HELOISE: For those who are home seamstresses and like to do their cutting-out on the bed, try taking the extension leaves from your dining room table (usually found in a closet 'cause they are seldom used) and putting them together on your bed.

Heloise

It makes a great cutting table.

I have even placed one on a dining room chair to hold my partially stitched pieces. Gives me a great deal of extra room.

BILLIE S.

Let's have some drum beating and trumpets for this little stitch-in-time.

Don't most of us have extra table leaves in the closet?

Why not put 'em to use? Three cheers for Billie.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Some time ago I read one of your hints about bread wires. It was such a good one that I began saving those "twistems" like mad.

Now that I've accumulated several hundred of them, I've forgotten the hint. Could you please tell me as to what I'm saving them for?

WONDERING.

DEAR HELOISE: The mother who drops an ice cube in baby's hot cereal has a great idea. However, I prefer ice cream to give baby that extra bit of nourishment.

I also keep a jar of applesauce or other fruit sauce in the refrigerator. A couple of spoonfuls will cool baby's cereal in a jiffy too.

DONNA MEDLOCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I found a new use for old rubber gloves.

I cut off the fingertips about an inch or so and I use the gloves when I go fishing! They really protect my hands not only from brown spots and freckles, but are very handy when cleaning the fish. (The slippery fish don't slide!)

Atferwards, I just soak them in warm bleach water and I'm all set or the next bfig fishing trip.

MILDRED G.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell your readers to put those little dime-store windmills out in the garden when their tulips are oming up.

When the windmills turn, they ketp the rabbits away.

M.B.A.

DEAR HELOISE: My camera now has an inexpensive lens cover made from the snap-on plastic cap from a prescription bottle.

I put a strip of cellophane tape on the cap so it sticks up in front of the viewfinder, thus saving missed pictures.

C. M. A.

DEAR HELOISE: When my daughter got married, I purchased tiny white paper doilies, pulled them apart ahead of time and stacked them neatly beside the cake.

By holding a doily on the left side of the cake and cutting with the right hand, a slice can very easily be placed on the guest's plate.

No crumbling and no sticky fingers.

INEZ BENTON.

DEAR HELOISE: I love a foam cushion under my ironing board cover, but the ones sold with covers are not thick enough for me.

So I bought two thick foam floor mats (at a very nominal cost), traced my ironing board outline on each, taped them together and voila!

Now when I iron garments that have large or bulky buttons, the buttons just sink into the foam and I have a smooth ironing surface.

CLAIRE GARRIN.

Ex-Area Soldier Participates In Rites For 'Ike'

A former Chester resident, recipient of numerous awards for bravery in Vietnam, was a driver for the funeral of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Abilene, Kan.

Sgt. Rodger A. Green, nephew of Jack Green of 548 California Ave., was driver for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Firestone of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Green, in addition to escorting the Firestones, was non-commissioned officer in charge of the detachment. He also visited in Mrs. Eisenhower's private railroad car and attended the final committal services in the Eisenhower Chapel.

Green returned to the U.S. in December after spending a year in Vietnam. While stationed there he received a Bronze Star for valor, two Purple Hearts, two army commendation medals — one for valor and another for service — a Vietnamese cross of gallentry and an air medal.

Green, currently stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., serves with the 67th signal battalion, a "garrison unit" of the Fifth Army.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Football has passed baseball as the number one sport in the United States, according to a Lou Harris poll.

Of the people queried, 31 per cent named football as their favorite sport, compared with 28 per cent for baseball. In 1968, football was 32 per cent and baseball 39 per cent. Large gains were registered by bowling (up from 4 to 8 per cent), auto racing (up from 2 to 7 per cent) and golf (up from 3 to 6 per cent.

Breaking own those questioned into groups, the survey showed football to be a man's sport, with women preferring bowling and basketball. Football is also the sport of those with high incomes, with baseball holding strong as the favorite of those with lower incomes. Football is very popular with the younger set. Football is also strong with the 35-50 age bracket, through basketball and golf also rate high. Those over 50 are the hard-core baseball fans, though many follow horse racing and bowling. Baseball is still the favorite among black people, with basketball also very popular.

THE REASONS behind the shift in popularity away from baseball are complex. An Illinois U. psychology professor ties in the popularity decline with the general discontent of youth in the nation today. "Baseball is very much 'establishment', and as youth becomes more anti-establishment it becomes more anti-baseball," says Rosalind Cartwright. Little Leagues are hurting baseball in this context, says Dr. Cartwright. "They institutionalized sandlot baseball—which kids used to love because it was so free—and dominated it with parent figures."

A 28-year-old Chicago lawyer puts it more simply: "Watching baseball is like watching chess—its too cerebral. Pro football has a lot of blood-and-guts action."

Reckless shifting of franchises and dilution of talent have not helped baseball's image. Neither have unwritten standards that encourage conformity by the players.

BUT BASEBALL is finally realizing that its popularity is declining. Moves have been made to reverse the trend. The appointment of a strong commissioner, Bowie Kuhn, was a step in the right direction. So was the lowering of the mound and the shrinking of the strike zone. There is no question that most fans enjoy a high-scoring game. The enforcement of the 20-second rule between pitches, aimed at eliminating some of the dead spots, is a good move.

Revolutionary moves have seen the expansion of the sport into Canada on a major league level. In Montreal, where ice hockey is usually the be-all and end-all of the sporting world, the first three sports pages on opening day were devoted to the brand-new Expos, with the champion Canadiens shoved to the back of the section. Splitting into divisions, through it may cheapen the World Series, seems to have the approval of the fans.

Given four close pennant races and increased hitting as evidenced by the early games, and baseball will surge back into the top spot in popularity.

Mason Wins, Braund Beaten

By TURK PIERCE

Beaver Local banged out 14 hits and whipped Midland 13-4 in a non-league baseball game at Beaver Local yesterday.

Mike Smith led the Beaver attack with four singles and a walk and three RBIs. Dave Mason was the winning pitcher, though he needed help from Ralph Wolford.

Greg Braund took the loss for the winless Leopards, with Bob Prodonovich finishing up. Mark Braund and Prodonovich had two hits each for the losers. Bob Robinson added three hits for the Beavers and Gary Klembara blasted a triple to deep center.

Though the two teams combined for 10 errors, there were four double-plays in the game, two by each club.

The Beavers started the scoring in the first inning. Scott Dubberly was hit by a pitch and Smith walked. Dean Horger singled in a run, Klembara plated another with a sacrifice fly and Robinson singled in Horger with the third run.

In the second Mason walked, took second on a wild pitch and scored on a hit by Smith. He took second in the throw home and scored on a single by Horger. In the third Beaver Loal loaded the bases with none out, but Braund bore down to fan Mason and then got Dubberly to bounce into a pitcher-home-first double play.

Midland got on the scoreboard in the fourth on back-to-back singles by the Braund brothers and two wild pitches. The Beavers countered with three runs on only one hit, a lead-off single by Smith. Horger was safe on an error and Klembara walked to load the bases. Lew Brown was hit by a pitch to force in one run. Brown was trapped off first, but the confused Midland infield was unable to retire him and Horger scampereed home. Klembara scored when Scott Newtz booted Robinson's grounder. Prodonovich came on at this point and retired the side without further damage, thanks to a double play.

Midland tallied in the fifth when Prodonovich singled, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored on an infield out.

In the bottom of the fifth Mason and Dubberly singled, with Dubberly taking second on the play at third. Smith singled for two runs and rode home on Klembara's triple. Robinson scratched a hit to score Klembara.

Midland got rid of Mason in the sixth when Greg Braund walked and his brother singled. Prodonovich got a scratch hit and Wolford threw the ball away, letting one run score. The final Midland tally came in on an infield out. The Beavers, now 4-1-1, closed out the scoring in the sixth when Rick Sheppard singled, took second on a balk, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Dubberly.

Cubs Blank Cards 1-0

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ferguson Jenkins and Red Schoendienst took turns shaking up the St. Louis Cardinals, Mike Shannon shook up Glenn Beckert, and the Chicago Cubs are shaking up the National League's Eastern Division with their best start in 34 years.

Jenkins, only Cub pitcher tagged with a loss in nine games so far his young season, cooked the Cardinals with five hits in a 1-0 blanking Wednesday night.

After the NL's defending champs' fifth loss in nine games, Manager Schoendienst announced he was benching three of last year's stars—Lou Brock, Tim McCarver and Julian Javier — for tonight's game with the Cubs.

Beckert, the Cubs' second baseman, was carried from the field in the seventh after Shannon, an ex-college football quarterback slammed into him while sliding into second.

Beckert apparently was not seriously injured, but was taken to a hospital for X rays and further examination. Shannon didn't require hospitalization, although he said, "I've got a big lump on my head."

Ron Santo, Cub third baseman and Beckert's roommate, said he was at first frightened by the collision.

"All I saw was my roomies head go back—bang! I thought 'Oh, my God.' I went over to him and asked 'Roomie are you all right.' He said. 'I can't see out of one eye.' I thought he was paralyzed. He wasn't moving . . . just lying there and looking straight."

The Cubs picked up their lone run in the third off lefty Steve Carlton when Billy Williams singled, and moved around on a walk, Ernie Banks' sacrifice and an infield hit by Randy Hundley.

Schoedienst ordered a day's rest for Brock, McCarver and Javier because they "aren't hitting. Maybe a lay off will give them a little help."

Brock had only four hits in 40 trips this season, Javier is 6-for 29 and McCarver 7-for-37.

Meanwhile, in other games Los Angeles back Bill Singer's four-hit pitching with four homers in a 9-1 conquest of San Diego, Jose Pagan rapped four hits and drove in three runs as Pittsburgh routed the New York Mets 11-3 and Hank Aaron's 512th homer of his career guided Atlanta past Houston 6-4. Montreal's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Los Angeles had round trippers from Wes Parker, Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Tom Haller in handing expansionist San Diego its fifth straight loss.

Pagan, replacing rookie Rich Hebner at third, tripled in two runs in the Pirates' four-run first inning and singled in another in a two-run ninth.

The Pirates chased starter Jerry Koosman in the third after Pagan doubled and scored on Jerry May's sacrifice. The Pirates got four more runs off replacement Nolan Ryan in the fifth.

Aaron's two-run shot off lefty Denny Lemaster in the first inning vaulted the great Atlanta slugger into a sixth place tie with former teammate Eddie Mathews on the all-time homer list. Aaron had been tied with Mel Ott.

Seven Homers In Game

Orioles Outslug Boston, Take First In AL East

By HAL BOCK

The Easter Bunny has come and gone but the rabbit remains in American League baseballs.

The little fellow was really jumping Wednesday with 16 home runs sailing out of AL ball yards including seven in Boston's cozy Fenway Park.

The Red Sox got two apiece from Billy Conigliaro and George Scott but it wasn't enough to hold off the rampaiging Baltimore Orioles, who beat Boston 11-8 in a game called by rain rain a 7½ innings. That gave the Orioles 21 runs in the last two days in Friendly Fenway. Don Buford, Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair all reached the seats for Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Detroit rapped Cleveland 8-2, Chicago dropped Kansas City 5-2, Oakland jolted California 6-1 and Minnesota whipped Seattle 6-4. Washington's game at New York was postponed by rain.

Buford drove in four runs with his homer and two singles and Robinson's shot was good for three runs. Blair's came with the bases empty and Dave Johnson added four straight singles to the 16-hit Oriole attack.

Scott had two singles to go with his pair of homers. But it was Conigliaro, filling in for his brother, Tony, who captured the imagination of the crowd with his two shots into Fenway's inviting left field screen.

"I was sort of stunned," the 21-year-old rookie admitted. Billy managed only 20 homers in four minor league seasons and is not rated as much a power hitter as his brother, Tony.

The homers came in Conigliaro's first major league start and helped the Red Sox stay in the game with the hepped-up Orioles, who've won five of the last six and scored 44 runs in that stretch.

Rookie Carlos May enjoyed his second two-homer day of the season and Buddy Bradford also connected as the White Sox took their home opener from Kansas City. The two teams turned in six double plays in the first major league game played outdoors on artificial infield turf.

Joe Foy connected for the Royals.

Jim Northrup drove in four runs for Detroit—two of them with a homer—and Denny McLain scattered nine hits to beat Cleveland for the second time this season. Norm Cash also homered for the Tigers and Jose Cardenal hit one for the Indians.

Sal Bando hammered a grand slam homer and Chuck Dobson's four-hitter eased Oakland past California. Bando's shot followed two walks and an error and gave Dobson all the offense he needed.

Minnesota used a three-run ninth inning rally capped by Rich Reese's two-out, two-run double to trim Seattle. Jim Gosger ended an 0-for-17 slump with three hits for the Pilots including his first home run of the year which gave Seattle a 4-3 lead in the eighth and stt the stage for the late Twins' rally.

Columbiana Hands Potters 1st Golf Loss

Columbiana handed East Liverpool its first golf loss of the season, 153-155 at Valley yesterday.

Ted Ossoff led the Clipper golfers with a par 35, which proved to be the difference. Jim Powers had a 38, Dale Reash 39 and Dan Reash 41. Bill McHenry paced the Potters with a 37, Bob Kinsey had a 38, Andy Petrick 39 and Ken Johnson 41.

East Liverpool, 5-1, travels to Salem today.

Losers Get $10,000

World Series Payoffs Increased To $15,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball, relegated to second best by pro football in playoff payoffs, has raised its money guarantees to all-time highs for players in the World Series.

Under the playoff system brought on by the new divisional setups in each league, the World Series winners will get a guaranteed minimum of $15,000 in 1969, while the losers will receive at least $10,000, based on 32 shares per club.

Pro football's Super Bowl winners have been getting $15,000 and the losers $7,500.

The new agreement announced Wednesday by Joe Cronin, American League president, and Warren Giles, National League president, also guarantees the players on the two clubs losing the divisional playoffs $5,000 each. The winners, of course, go into the series.

The first three teams in each of the four divisions will share in the Series player pool, thus adding another team in each league to the payoff. Previously, only the first five teams in each of the two 10-team leagues got a share.

The new World Series shares represent a considerable increase from the $10,936 each of the Detroit Tigers got in 1968 for beating the St. Louis Cardinals, who only received $7,079 each. In fact, the new plan is quite a jump from the record World Series payoffs of $12,794 and $8,189 that went to the Los Angeles Dodgers for winning in 1963 and losing in 1966.

The divisional playoffs helped make the new payoffs possible as there was little change in the way the Series receipts had been allocated.

Stanton Smears Southern For 22nd Straight Win

Stanton won its 22nd straight dual track meet yesterday, crushing Southern Local, winless this season, 119½-12½ in an Indian League meet at Stanton.

The Southern team recorded only one first, Terry Mellott in the mile.

Stanton runners set a league record and a school record. Bob Blackburn, a junior, turned in a 10:41.6 two-mile, breaking his own league record of 10:42.9 set earlier this year. Danny Smith whipped over the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.0, snapping the school standard of :16.4 set by John Reese last year. Smith also captured the high jump. Dave Olesky, in the dashes, and Bob Holland, in the low hurdles and pole vault, were the other double winners for the Red Raiders.

In other matches yesterday, Brilliant whipped Cadiz 85-45, Jefferson Union stomped Springfield 97-33 and Hopedale and Mingo were postponed until tonight.

Moe Paces Win

Oakland Downs Denver, Wins Playoff Series 4-3

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Oakland's Oaks, who led for all but 30 seconds, defeated the Denver Rockets by 115-102 Wednesday night and moved into the American Basketball Association's Western Division finals.

By winning the divisional semi-finals, 4-3, the Oaks qualified to play either Ner Orleans or Dallas who are tied in their semi-final series at three games each and who meet for the title tonight.

Doug Moe collected 28 points for the Oaks against Denver, five of them in an eight-point Oaks' burst in the opening period.

His teammate, Larry Brown, shot 25 points and Wayne Hightower got 22 for the losers.

Alex Hannum, the Oakland coach, said: "This was one of our biggest games for our young club."

He also said he "was worried when we got in foul trouble, but Warren (Armstrong) helped us by filling in at forward."

The Rockets got 30 attempts from the foul line. Armstrong contributed 19 points to the Oaks' cause.

Denver led briefly by 7-6 in the first period but trailed the rest of the way.

Oakland led by three points at the half and by four at the end of the third period.

The Western Division winner will play for the championship against Kentucky, Indiana, Miami or Minnesota, who are all contending for the Eastern Division title.

Kentucky and Indiana tied 3-3 in one eastern semi-final, play tonight in Indianapolis, Miami and Minnesota, also tied at 3-3, meet in Miami, also tonight.

Cousy Predicts Comeback As Pro Basketball Coach

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Cousy, one of basketball's all-time greats, figures he'll be back in the game he loves some day.

"After 25 years, you just don't completely divorce yourself from the game of basketball," the former Boston Celtic star said.

He retired last month after a six-year stint as head coach at Boston College to become a public relations consultant.

"I've had feelers from several professional teams but I want to try something else for a year or so. Then I'll consider coaching again."

The 40-year-old Cousy was here Wednesday representing a travel agency, one of three firms that compensate the former court magician with an income reportedly in six figures.

Cousy still runs his basketball camp at Pittsfield, N.H., that each summer draws 130 kids between the ages of 7 and 14.

"I love to work with kids and I think that's what I enjoyed most about college coaching. But recruiting, scouting and picture sessions are not my cup of tea."

Cousy said he was delighted to see Boston doing so well in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"The Celtics have the best team in the NBA right now. They didn't do much in the last month and a half of the regular season. You might say they were saving themselves for the playoffs.

"But with Bill Russell and Sam Jones going so well, the club has the cohesion to go all the way."

The former All-American at Holy Cross, who became somewhat of a legend in 13 years at Boston, looks trim enough to step in right now and help his old teammates.

"I still find time to play a little, especially during out summer clinic for high school juniors and seniors. And I plan a trip to Europe this summer to help some countries with their national basketball teams."

Cousy sees one major change in pro ball since the time he played. "The defense hasn't kept pace and the game should do something to make it tougher to score. I think smaller hoops could be the answer, and that goes for college and high school ball, too."

Kings Hope To Break St. Louis Arena Hex

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings, who have never beaten the Blues in St. Louis, will try to break the hex tonight in the second game of the National Hockey League West Division playoffs.

The Blues opened the best-of-7 series Tuesday night blanking the Kings 4-0.

Blues' Coach Scotty Bowman had no personnel problems but the Kings' Red Kelly said Wednesday he might start goalie Wayne Rutledge, who replaced rookie Gerry Desjardins after two periods of Tuesday's opener.

The Kings also were expected to be without services of right winger Lowell MacDonald, who had collided with Bob Plager of the Blues.

Kelly said he might use either Bob Wall, Jacques Lemulex or rookie Ron Anderson in MacDonald's spot.

Bowman's biggest decision was whether to start Jacques Plante or Glenn Hall in goal.

Regardless of who starts, a record performance is in prospect. Plante's shutout in Tuesday's game tied the record of 13 in career playoff competition set by Turk Broda of Toronto.

Hall needs 35 minutes on the ice to break the record for most career minutes by a goaltender in playoffs. The record, 6,211 minutes, is held by Terry Sawchuk, who played with Detroit, Toronto and Los Angeles.

Hall has not played since April 2, when he suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in the opening clash of the semifinals with Philadelphia.

Freedom Rally Nips W. Beaver

Freedom rallied to hand Western Beaver a 5-3 loss at Freedom yesterday.

The Golden Beavers sparked by a homer by Dave McCreery, took a 3-0 lead, but Freedom came back to tie the game and won in the sixth against reliever Eli Rakas.

Don Traylor singled ahead of McCreery's homer in the first. In the second Tom Smith walked, stole second and scored on two hits for the losers, now 2-3.

Al Hornyak To Play Ball At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Allan Hornyak, 6-foot-2 guard from Bellaire who averaged 42 points a game the past season, will play his college basketball at Ohio State.

Hornyak, a first-team selection in The Associated Press Class AA balloting, led Bellaire St. John's to 20 victories after an opening game loss.

A standout in three sports, Hornyak scored 2,385 points in his career, including 86 during a game against Warren Consolidated of Tiltonsville.

LaCosta Golf Course Tough For Pro Tour

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP)—The course is as long as they'll see, but it will take the straight hitter, not the belter, to survive on he awesome acres of La Costa Country Club course.

That was the consensus of an elite field of 28 of the world's best golfers today as they set out on what some called a safari, the first round of the $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

"This course is just too tough," said Billy Casper, the mild-mannered Mormon who rarely complains. "It's just not fair. That's how tough it is.

"You hit a ball in the rough and you just can't find it."

"It's like a U.S. Open course" Masters champion George Archer said. "It's going to go to the straight hitters. Guys like (Lee) Trevino and (Julius Boros guys who can keep it in play, keep it on the fairways."

"It's a jungle out there," Boros, the PGA champion, said. "Hit it into the rough and there is just no telling what may come charging out at you. You don't need caddies. You need gunbearers.

The object of their ire was the 7,200 yard, par 72 La Costa layout, laced with streams and dotted with pools and featuring a three-tiered, man-made waterfall.

Pepper Wilson Promoted In Cincinnati Royal Move

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals have begun a hierarchy shuffle, with promises of more to come.

Wednesday, General Manager Pepper Wilson became the vice president of the National Basketball Association club, a newly created position.

His successor is Joseph A. Axelson, former assistant executive secretary of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

"This is the first in a series of basic organizational changes," said owner Max Jacobs in making the announcements at a press conference.

"We're changing everything on this club. 'We're opening a new era for the Royals. Our new general manager has a long and efficient history to merit his selection."

But Jacobs declined to disclose any of the intimated changes which might be upcoming in the near future.

There have been rumors that there might be changes made in the coaching department. Coach Ed Jucker has one year left on a three - year contract.

Jacobs said the 41-year-old Axelson would be given free rein in promoting the club. Wilson's new job will be in handling players personnel, salaries, trades, signings and scouting.

Axelson is well known in NAIA circles, having also served as its public relations director. He's also former sports officer for Furman Univedsity, sports broadcaster and director for the Bowling Poprietor's Association.

"The Royals have basically a good club," he said. "Any team that is located in a corner of Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio has got to be in the right spot."

Top Pro-Moscow Reds Make Prague Comeback

PRAGUE (AP) — Leading pro-Moscow Communists made a comeback in Czechoslovakia today as their party's Central Committee gathered for a crisis session.

Ten prominent party members accused of collaboration during the Soviet invasion last August were cleared of any wrongdoing and staunchly defended in a statement issued Wednesday night by the party Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is an eight-member inner circle of the 21-member Presidium, ruling body of the Central Committee.

The announcement obviously was timed to precede today's session of the 121-member Central Committee.

The agenda for the committee meeting was expected to include discussion of the internal struggle between old guard and the reformers who took over in January 1968, plans to cancel the traditional mass gatherings on May Day to prevent new anti-Soviet outbursts, price increases and plans for the world meeting of Communist parties in Moscow in June.

Czechoslovaks wondered if the Executive Committee statement meant the old guard had wrested control from party chief Alexander Dubcek's reformers or whether it was a concession that would save the jobs of the still-popular "Big Four" of the reform movement—Dubcek, Premier Oldrich Cernik, President Ludvik Svoboda and Parliament Vice Secretary Josef Smrkovsky.

The statement from the Executive Committee gave a clean bill of health to 10 named leaders and "many comrades in the lower ranks (who) were unjustly labeled and in some cases even exposed to terror."

Although the role played by the 10 is not fully clear, some were denounced as collaborators in underground broadcasts, newspapers, placards and leaflets that kept Czechoslovaks united during the first days of the Soviet occupation.

One of the 10, Party Secretary Alois Indra, was reported in August to be Moscow's choice for puppet premier. He remained in Moscow for more than a month after the invasion, then returned to Prague and became increasingly active.

Meanwhile, the Soviet news agency Tass announced early today that the Warsaw Pact nations had ended three days of air defense maneuvers in Eastern Europe.

The announcement of the maneuvers last weekend caused a stir in Czechoslovakia, and they were viewed by many as an attempt to put pressure on the Central Committee in advance of the meeting today.

A Junior Editors Quiz About YEAST

QUESTION: How does yeast help in breadmaking?

ANSWER: Yeast is a tiny one-celled fungus plant, shown in the upper magnified view as it buds to produce new cells. Yeast can be kept as a compressed cake, with the plants dormant. When such a cake is moistened with lukewarm water, the moisture and warmth start the plants into action. When making bread, yeast is added to flour and water. It changes the starch in the flour to sugar, which is then turned to alcohol and carbon dioxide gas. This process is called fermentation. The gas bubbles up through the dough, causing it to rise in a fluffy, porous mass. Gluten, an elastic material in the dough, encloses the gas bubbles. As the bread is baked, the alcohol and gas evaporate and the yeast plants are destroyed. But the light fluffy structure made by the gas bubbles remains. This allows the heat to thoroughly penetrate and cook the dough. Making homemade bread is simple if you do it right. We recommend following cookbook directions closely and getting mother's help and advice.

Lodge Warns Reds On War Escalation

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today that stepped-up military action such as they launched late in February will only bring continued loss of life and destruction.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge spoke at the 13th full-scale session of the Vietnam peacetalks. He apparently intended his warning as a reply to indications that the other side believes the Nixon administration will be influenced by mounting U.S. casualties.

Lodge spoke after the representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, cited antiwar demonstrations in the United States and asserted that both the public and the military forces wanted Washington to withdraw.

"Peace will not come to Vietnam," Lodge said, "as a result of military operations such as those you have been conducting since the end of February. Indeed, it must inevitably be hindered thereby."

Lodge said the United States does not seek military victory, but he added that "from all appearances, your side still pursues" this objective. He urged the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong to begin serious discussions immediately on such issues as respect for the 1962 Geneva agreement and the restoration of the demilitarized zone.

Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front told the 13th weekly meeting of the enlarged peace talks that the aim of the United States is to gain time for the "de-Americanization" of the war.

Kiem hit again at the U.S. proposal for the simultaneous withdrawal of foreign troops, calling it an absurb request. He said the Saigon government is still insisting that the North Vietnamese troops must withdraw first.

This apparently was a reference to differences reported between Saigon and Washington troop withdrawal.

The U.S. "maneuver is clear," Kiem said. "They want to keep this conference at a standstill so as to gain time in implementing what they call the 'de-Americanization' or "Vietnamization' of the war, that is the strengthening of the puppet army and administration, to use 'de-Americanization' or 'Vietnamese, to drag on the aggressive war . . ."

He referred to U.S. demonstrations against the Vietnam war in this connection, as he did [illegible]k ago in a similar statement.

2 Bodies Recovered

Grave Doubts Expressed For Any Plane Survivors

Life Belts, Parts Of Fuselage With Bullet Holes Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bodies of two crewmen from the U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korea have been found in the Sea of Japan and there are grave doubts that any of the 29 other crew members survived, the Pentagon said today.

"We regret to report that the destroyer USS Tucker has recovered the bodies of one officer and one enlisted crew member from the EC121 downed over the Sea of Japan," a Pentagon statement said.

"Individual identifications are being withheld until notification of next of kin has been accomplished.

Gravely Concerned

"We are now gravely concerned about the chances of finding any survivors. The search is being continued."

The Tucker recovered the bodies about 17 miles north of the site where the first signs of wreckage from the plane, a four-engine, propeller-driven converted Super Constellation, were spotted about 120 miles southeast of the North Korean coast, the Pentagon reported.

In addition to the bodies, the destroyer recovered life jackets and pieces of fuselage bearing shrapnel holes, the statement stated.

A wide search for the plane and its 31 crewmen has been under way since the plane was reported missing Monday after North Korea said it had downed the aircraft for allegedly violating its territory.

The bodies were clothed in flying suits but were not wearing life jackets, Japan's Kyodo News Service reported. Kyodo, which did not give its source, also said the bodies were picked up by the U.S. destroyer Tucker.

The recovery of the bodies came as the world waited for President Nixon to break the calculated public silence he instituted after North Korea declared it had destroyed the plane.

Nixon Protest Due

Officials indicated Wednesday the President was expected to issue some sort of protest to North Korea, and there has been no evidence of a change. But no decision had been reported about how this would be done.

Among the choices the administration was understood to have considered was a public statement expressing the United States' protest. The American position also could be made known at the Korean truce site at Panmunjom, if a meeting requested for late tonight—EST—by North Korea is held.

Although North Korea gave no reason for seeking a Panmunjom meeting, the proposal came shortly after the broadcast claiming destruction of the U.S. plane and it was assumed Pyongyang would protest the alleged violation of its territory.

In any event, Nixon is certain to discuss the incident at a Friday morning news conference,

DISORDER ON KENT CAMPUS. The Kent State University campus was the scene of numerous small fights following a rally of some 500 students conducted by the Students for a Democratic Society Wednesday night. The Ohio Highway Patrol and local police arrested 57 persons, some who had barricaded themselves on the third floor of a campus building after smashing down a door. (UPI Telephoto)

Senate Probe Spurs Action Over Poverty

Washington Slum Landlord Agrees To Fix Tenement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first tangible result from a Senate probe of hunger and poverty in the nation's capital has been the agreement of a slum landlord to start repairs on a tenement apartment Sen. Charles Percy said was a "pigsty."

The Illinois Republican Wednesday told an applauding audience at a theater in one of Washington's black slum areas that he had telephoned the landlord and convinced him to start repairs after he and other members of the Senate hunger committee toured several tenements.

The committee's three days of hearings on poverty and malnutrition in the capital concluded today with a session focusing on, among other things, Washington's high infant mortality rate.

A survey two years ago said only Mississippi had a higher infant death rate than the capital.

Tuesday, Percy visited the four-room apartment of Mrs. Dora Crowder in a run-down, trash-littered area and learned she pays more than half of her $270 monthly welfare check to rent the apartment for herself and six children.

"It was a pigsty. It was terrible," Percy said, noting there were rat holes in the walls, the only toilet had been stopped up

Grand Jury Report Due Later Today

LISBON — The Columbiana County Grand Jury was still in session late this morning preparing its report to Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court.

The jury of 13 women and two men was in session six days and examined approximately 55 cases. Jurors completed their investigation Wednesday afternoon in time to make the mandatory inspection of the County Jail.

They returned to the Courthouse at 10 this morning.

Tax Return Oddities

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some tea bags and a comb were enclosed among the 1,086,000 tax returns received Wednesday by the Mid-Atlantic service center of the Internal Revenue Service.

A New Jersey man sent in the comb, explaining he had pulled out his hair trying to compute his share of the tax burden. The tea bags apparently referred to an earlier tax protest — the Boston tea party.

Building Door Smashed

57 Are Arrested In Kent Disorder

BULLETIN

KENT, Ohio (AP) — All but four or five of 57 Kent State University demonstrators arrested Wednesday night on trespassing charges posted $1,000 bonds for their release this morning.

KENT, Ohio (AP)—A 70-man police force surrounded a building on the Kent State University campus Wednesday night and arrested 50 demonstrators who had smashed a door to get inside the building three hours earlier. Seven other students were also arrested and charged with inciting to riot.

Ohio State Highway Patrolmen, assisted by Portage County Sheriff's deputies, Kent City and campus police, escorted the students, who were members of and sympathyzers with Students for a Democratic Society, from the music and speech building.

As they were led to waiting University buses to be taken to the Portage County Courthouse at Ravenna, cheers went up from some 200 students gathered behind a line of police three-deep at the buildings entrance.

A university spokesman said 50 students would be charged with forceable entry. He said 35 of the students were male and 22 female.

The spokesman said the State Highway Patrol made the arrests peacefully after being called in by the campus security chief at the administration's request. He said the action was taken after the students ignored a university request to leave the building.

Between 70 and 100 students

'Bargain Job' Under $1 Billion

$2 To $3 Billion Cost Seen To Eliminate Poor's Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax experts say President Nixon's goal of eliminating federal incomes taxes for all families living below the poverty line would cost between $2 billion and $3 billion a year if done properly.

A bargain basement job could be done for less than $1 billion annually, they said, but the results would not be good and it would disrupt the tax system.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, the White House counselor and economic specialist in Nixon's inner circle, disclosed Wednesday that relieving the poor of income taxes is one of the administration's ultimate goals.

By one recent official estimate, 11 million families—including single persons living alone—have incomes below the poverty line which is figured as $3,300 a year. But though they are defined as poor by the government, 2.2 million in this group pay federal income taxes.

One informed source said Wednesday that if the only objective was to remove the tax burden from the poor, it could be done for as little as half a billion dollars yearly.

Estimates for a proper program ranged between $2 billion and $3 billion annually. The extra cost, it was explained, would go into designing the program so that when persons below the poverty line finally inch across it they would not be hit by a sudden heavy tax burden.

Burns' disclosure continued a series of tax policy announcements this month in which the administration has taken an increasingly strong position on closing loopholes, especially those favoring the rich, and extending tax relief to those less well off.

Tax technicians said the cost of lifting all income taxes from the poor, even assuming the higher unofficial estimates, could probably be paid with additional revenue brought in by ending some tax abuses.

Salem Woman's Killer Draws Life In Prison

Battle Deaths On Both Sides Drop In Viet

U.S. Toll 204 Last Week; 2,890 Reds Victims In Action

SAIGON (AP) — Battle deaths on all sides dropped last week to their lowest levels since the Viet Cong's winter-spring push began Feb. 23.

The weekly casualty reports said 204 Americans, 244 South Vietnamese military personnel and 2,890 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in action last week. Both the Americans and the South Vietnamese reported increases in the number of their wounded, however, with the U.S. total rising sharply from 1,285 the previous week to 2,691.

Most of the wounded apparently resulted from the nightly rocket and mortar attacks on U.S. military bases that have characterized the enemy offensive. Such attacks frequently cause large numbers of shrapnel wounds. But the drop in the number of dead reflected the slacking off of enemy ground attacks in recent weeks.

Enemy gunners shelled Da Nang: 12 South Vietnamese civilians and two military men and wounding 40 persons. The wounded included one American, 28 Vietnamese civilians and 11 government soldiers.

It was the highest civilian toll in five attacks on South Vietnam's second largest city dur-

2 Young Girls Injured When Struck By Auto

Two young city girls were injured Wednesday night on Jefferson St. when they apparently ran in front of an auto about 7:56.

Police reported Deborah Mouse, 8, daughter of Mrs. Eileen Mouse of 633 Jefferson St., and Cathy Biro, 8, daughter of Mrs. Ruthann Biro of 315 Rural Ln., were injured when struck by a car driven by Linda D. Montgomery, 21, of 1710 Nevada St., Wellsville. The mishap occurred on Jefferson, about 79 feet north of the W. 6th St. intersection.

Miss Mouse suffered contusions of the right hip and abrasions to both knees and Miss Biro abrasions of the left elbow.

Miss Montgomery said she was headed north when the two girls ran from the west side of the street into the path of her 1963 station wagon. She said she applied her brakes, but couldn't avoid hitting the youngsters.

Miss Montgomery was not cited by investigating officers.

Two other mishaps occurred Wednesday afternoon about a half - hour apart — one on Walnut St. and the other on W. 4th St.

Autos driven by Vernon K. McDade, 32, of 188 Montana Ave., Chester, and Mrs. Velma J. Poole, 42, of Martha St., crashed about 3:06 p. m. on W. 4th about 60 feet east of the Washington St. intersection.

McDade's 1963 panel truck, owned by the Liverpool Transportation Co. of 237 W. 8th St., received damage to the left front portion of the bumper, while Mrs. Poole's auto was damaged in the right rear fender.

Mrs. Poole said two buses were coming down the street and she pulled over to let them pass and struck the truck, which was parked at a yellow curb. Police issued no citations.

A truck, reportedly owned by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. at Progress Park, Zelienople, Pa., struck a railroad crossing gate at the intersection of Walnut St. and the River Rd. about 3:50 p.m.

A woman who called police said the truck bore the word "Goodyear" on its side.

Officers said they contacted the local store and were informed the Zelienople factory has a truck of the same description. No charges were lodged.

Robert E. Sheets, 43, of 888 Valley Ave. told police Wednesday his was the auto involved in a crash on Pennsylvania Ave. about 3:34 a. m. yesterday when a pole was splintered and a house damaged.

He said he "passed out" and awakened after the crash.

No charges have been filed.

Proponents Expect Support In Direct Vote For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen wanting to change the way America chooses its presidents are expected to win early endorsement of the principle of direct election.

A solid bipartisan majority of the 35-member House Judiciary Committee favors junking the Electoral College and moved to put the committee on record today. But hammering out the language of a constitutional amendment to accomplish such a far-reaching change may prove a difficult task.

However, Chairman Emanuel Celler's goal of quick endorsement of direct election would eliminate a raft of alternative proposals from committee consideration.

One of the options, backed by President Nixon, would divide a state's electoral votes among the presidential candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said he personally favored a popular election amendment but was convinced it was too controversial to win ratification by the necessary 38 states.

Nixon has told Republican leaders in the House that if both the House and Senate approve a direct election amendment he will help in the fight to rally public support for ratification by the states. But until that stage is reached, he is reported to have said he will stay out of the struggle.

Despite the President's position, 10 of the 15 Republicans on the committee are reported to be firmly in favor of direct elections. At least 16 of the 20 Democrats are similarly inclined.

The situation is more fluid when it comes to details of an amendment, which would have to specify provisions for run-off elections, the percentage of the popular vote that would be required to win, and voter qualifications. The committee is expected to wrestle with such matters for some time.

Committee approval of the amendment would be only the first of a series of increasingly formidable barriers that would have to be cleared before the nation finally changed the way it chooses its presidents.

A two-thirds majority is required in both the House and Senate, and backers of direct election in the Senate consider the outlook dim there at the moment. Once congressional approval is obtained, ratification by three-fourths of the states would be needed.

Street Work To Go Ahead On Schedule

Frank DeCapio, Chester Council's street chairman, said today the street sealing program will go forward as scheduled, without delay.

DeCapio said plans call for beginning of the paving program the first of July so that funds from the 1968 budget earmarked for the program may be carried into the new fiscal year and be coupled with the 1969 budget allotment to provide a more complete project.

DeCapio said bids received from two area firms proved too high for the city's budget. He explained the Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co. of Canton bid $22.000 on the job that calls for improvement, through the so-called "seal - coating" process, of some 40 of the city's streets. The Allen Co. of Rochester bid $20,000.

Council expects to spend only about $7,000 or $8,000 so some streets will have to be eliminated from the program, DeCapio said.

He reported the Snyder Co. of Hammondsville will come to Chester Monday to review the streets proposed for the paving program and offer a bid later.

DeCapio pointed out the city has only 800 tons of slag with which to work. He said Council hopes to be able to pave some of the alleys also.

He said the funds for 1968, when coupled with new budget monies, will allow residents to have a better program than in the past.

Meanwhile the vote by which Roy Cashdollar was named to the Second Ward Council post was clarified.

It was 3-0 instead of 3-1 as previously reported.

Councilmen William Tuttle abstained from voting, questioning whether Cashdollar legally can fill the seat beause he also is a member of the city Water Board.

Barlow Elected '69-70 President For North PTA

Harry Barlow was elected president of the North Elementary Parent - Teacher Association at a meeting Tuesday night at the school. He will succeed Richard Manning.

Other officers named were Robert Hadley, vice president; Mrs. Betty Hooper, secretary; Nelson Hagerty, treasurer, and Leo Greenburg, director.

Gordon Fediacsko of the Mental Health Clinic spoke on "Your Child and his Mental Health."

Supt. Paul Blair discussed the proposed two school levy renewals on the May 6 ballot. The group voted to endorse passage of the levies.

Students representing the four third grade rooms sang a song composed for passage of the levies. They were directed by Miss Helen Hannahs. Mrs. Maxine Sutherland led devotions.

Car Wasn't Kidding, And Neither Is Kidd

Dale Kidd of Burrows Ave., Maplewood, notified the sheriff's office at Lisbon at 7:20 a. m. today that a car damaged his hedge during the night.

Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman, who investigated, said a driver apparently failed to make the curve in front of the Kidd residence, ran through the hedge, over the yard and out the driveway onto the road.

North Korea Following Plan

North Korea's shooting down of a U.S. intelligence plane is not surprising. It is part of a plan carefully calculated to embarrass, or draw the United States into a renewal of the Korean War.

What is surprising is the way the United States is so vulnerable to incidents like capture of the USS Pueblo and the shooting down of the spy plane with a 31-man crew.

WHY SHOULD ANYONE be surprised at North Korean tactics?

Their 1968 activity record shows they attempted numerous commando landings in South Korean fishing boats and killed 10 Americans in addition to grabbing the Pueblo.

North Korea has several things going for it in pulling off these stunts with international ramifications.

The North Koreans are pretty certain the United States doesn't want to open up a second Asian battle front. But should the United States take military retaliatory steps, the North Koreans have a ready equipment supplier in Russia and a manpower source in Red China.

If the United States continues to steer clear of a combat renewal in Korea, as it tries to extricate itself from Vietnam, the North Korea makes propaganda points with both Moscow and Peking.

Operating within the present set of circumstances, North Korea's actions are predictable rather than perplexing.

The question then is why does the United States continue to be guided by spying practices that enable North Korea to exercise its campaign of hostility and harassment?

After the Pueblo was seized, it was reported to the American public that precautions were being taken to guard against a repeat performance. Obviously the same safeguard steps were needed in the aerial intelligence system also.

A DISPUTE will develop over the location of the plane when it was attacked which will be the basis for any U.S. reaction. Final decisions in the matter will be the responsibility of President Nixon. The President has to take some action.

Diplomatic maneuvering no doubt will take care of the immediate problem of North Korea's action but the big question still will have to be resoved:

Will the United States continue to leave itself wide open to dangerous thrusts from a country little larger than the state of New York?

Each time North Korea takes advantage of a U.S. opening, demands for retaliation all the way to the use of the nuclear bomb are heard.

The calls should be for our military strategists to come up with a new plan and a wider application of sophisticated spying equipment to limit the exposure of the United States to attacks that could lead to rash action on either side.

Don't Bother To Go

What motorist will admit he or she doesn't know all the proper methods of operating an auto?

What driver would confess to consistently making errors in guiding, accelerating, slowing, turning that 2-ton chrome steel monster with which life and limb are endagered daily by inches, semi-seconds?

Would you? If you would, consider some of the suggestions and tips which might save your life or the lives of your family at a "Defensive Driving" seminar to be held Sunday.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will again sponsor the program at the First United Methodist Church, offering tri-state area residents a chance at avoiding accidents.

If you think you really know it all, don't bother to go. From the number of dead and injured we read about daily in this newspaper, you are with the majority of those with blind egotism who will be involved in an accident sooner or later because they didn't choose or didn't know how to avoid it.

County Planning Crossroads

Departure of James Morrissey from the Regional Planning Commission director post at Lisbon has been virtually assured from the beginning of the year.

Morrissey was unhappy with what he considered the restrictive and slow - paced policies of some RPC leaders and with the lack of adequate financing of the RPC programs.

Other RPC representatives were concerned at what they felt was a too - independent attitude of Morrissey along with complaints about the operations of the RPC office in handling applications for subdivision regulations.

It is difficult to separate the complaints against Morrissey from complaints against the new subdivision regulations and other planning operations of the RPC resisted in some quarters since it was founded.

THE COUNTY Commissioners, who are members of the RPC, expressed opposition to the subdivision regulations from the beginning, openly terming them too strict and privately indicating they felt the RPC was usurping some Commissioners prerogatives in jurisdiction over such development plans.

Commissioners have directed a charge at RPC that no major subdivisions have been approved in the county since the new regulations were adopted. However, the regulations were reviewed by a broad - based RPC group for months before final acceptance, and devlopers, realtors, bankers and others indicated support.

There has been no evidence that the regulations have prevented any developer from getting approval of a proposal that would be acceptable within regulations of modern communities and counties across the nation. RPC officials to a man are urgently interested in a growing, progressive county, attracting home owners, industrialists and commercial enterprises, and would not have last month again given full endorsement of the year-old regulations unless convinced they were in the best interests of the county's future.

THE UNFORTUNATE aspect of the planning operation in the county is the uncertainty of its future. Without adequate funds and without a professional director, the county must continue to take a back seat to such developing counties such as Stark, Mahoning and Jefferson in Ohio and Beaver County in Pennsylvania where there are adequate staffs and genuine support.

Failure of the commissioners to provide the needed financial backing places the RPC operation in jeopardy and is contrary to the goals set by county civic and governmental leaders, the state's own Economic Development Department and others.

RPC leaders and residents of Columbiana County concerned about the lagging pace of progress hope the Commissioners will soon be able to revise their evaluation of fund priorities and be able to implement the brand new comprehensive plan which right now seems destined to a very dusty shelf after five years of hard work and thousands of dollars of tax money.

The Eskimo Vote

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Sen. Teddy Kennedy has become a pariah as far as the Republicans are concerned and anything he does from now until 1972 is being viewed with fear and suspicion.

The word is even out on him in Alaska.

Art Buchwald

Two Eskimos were fishing in a hole in the ice about 300 miles north of Nome when they saw a large crowd arriving at their village.

"I wonder what's going on over there," Nikko said.

"It's probably Sen. Kennedy's Senate committee investigating the plight of th Eskimos in Alaska." Tula replied.

"LET'S STAY AWAY from that," Nikko said. "If we have our picture taken with Kennedy, we'll have every Republican in Congress on our backs."

"I guess you're right but I'd be curious to see Kennedy. He may not get up this way very soon again," Rula said.

"Please, Tula. You may want to run for village chief someday. And if you shake hands with Kennedy, the Republicans will bring it up in the campaign. Besides, we still don't have our dinner."

"I can't understand why the fish aren't biting today," Tula said. "Maybe the TV cameras are scaring them away."

"HEY, TULA, why don't we hold a press conference and say Sen. Kennedy and his tour scared all our fish? That could get you launched in politics."

Tula became excited. "Nikko, you're a genius. I'd be on the Huntley-Brinkley and Cronkite shows. I might even make the cover of Life magazine. The Republicans would invite me to address their fund-raising dinners. They'd probably even have me over to the White House with Sen. Dirksen."

"Culturally, it might ruin you to be taken out of your primitive habitat and be thrown into modern civilization but it would still be better than eating fish every night."

"Not to mention getting away from these cold winters," Tula said.

Nikko said, "You could even run for Governor of Alaska on the Republican ticket."

Tula said, "And maybe someday I could become secretary of the interior."

"Hey, look. Isn't that Arni presenting Sen. Kennedy with a seal tusk paperweight?"

"The fool. He's just destroyed his political career," Tula said. "Leave it to Arni to be in the wrong place at the wrong time."

"We'd better go over there and hold our press conference before the TV and newspaper people take off."

"Wait a minute. I think I've got a bite. Yes, I do have a bite. Look, Nikko, it's a big one."

"THROW IT BACK," Nikko shouted. "You'll ruin the press conference."

"Are you crazy? This is my dinner."

"But what about your political career?"

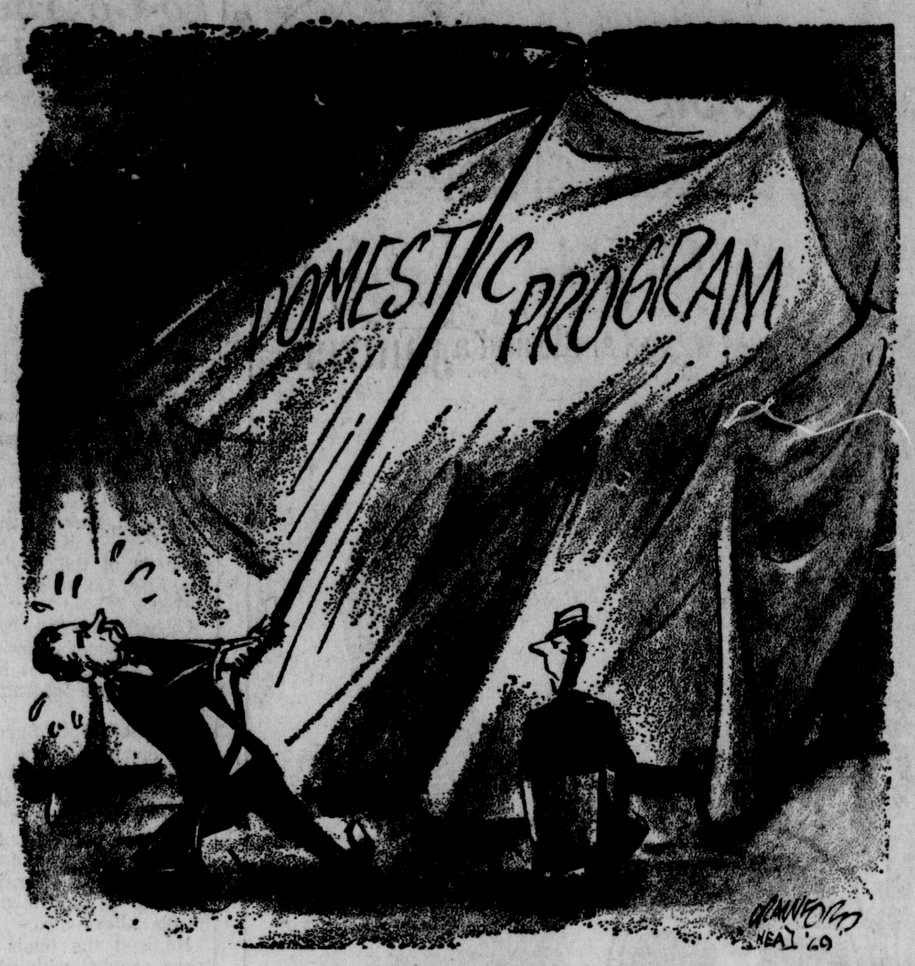
"I'd rather have something to eat tonight, if it's all the same to you."

"Tula, as your campaign manager, I beg you to throw back that fish."

"Not me, Nikko. I'd rather eat than be president."

Nikko shook his head. "No wonder we Eskimos can't get out of our rut."

The Unveiling



VICTOR RIESEL

No White House Meddling

NEW YORK — America's cities, seven of which have seen their mayors quit in polluted midstream recently, just will have to wrestle alone with their police, firefighters and garbage collectors strikes. The U.S. government doesn't believe it can, or should intervene. There will be no federal laws urged or passed to punish the cops, or firemen or "sanitation men" if they talk a walk.

Victor Riesel

That was the message from low-key Secretary of Labor George Shultz who came to this big blight the other day to comfort Mayor John Lindsay (who's not quitting) and to face an assortment of what the old college texts (probably burned by now) called captains of industry. He dined with these giants and a handful of labor men at the bountiful table and bars proffered by the American Arbitration Assn.

It was a rough dinner crowd. It asked direct questions. It got direct answers — but in George Shultz' country boy, gee whiz, fellas, you honor me, style.

To some of us, it seemed to be the first time President Nixon's labor and economic policies were sketched across the entire spectrum.

The full meaning, however, did not hit one until the next morning.

It was all summed up in one gentle poke at Lyndon Johnson's labor adviser, former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg.

"IT WOULD BE NICE to come running out with a pact written on the back of an envelope," said Mr. Shultz of the entire labor-management field, "but Arthur Goldberg has used up all the envelopes.

"The government should take a long hard look," added Mr. Shultz, obviously speaking for the Nixon administraton,"at the municipal field before we get into it . . . . I'm against public strikes. They're not consistant with public service. But I'm against compulsory arbitration."

Such arbitration during a city labor crisis would give the arbitrator or the judge taxing power over the city — since most of the city's costs are labor costs for services — teachers, police, firemen, et al.

Anyone who can set city wages can, in effect, set the taxes, added Mr. Shultz, since pay items are the greatest part of a municipal budget. So while he "deplored" state, county or municipal strikes, he implied, always gently, that he did not think the federal government should intervene.

There were no groans, just dead silence from the group gathered in that old preinauguration White House, the Hotel Pierre. They are fond of Shultzie, this ex-Marine and skilled golfer who breaks 80 and dares to beat AFL-CIO chief George Meany on the links. But they were being told that the White House could not solve this one for them.

On national emergency strikes, there was more comfort for most of the gathering.

"I am sending up some suggested answers to emergency strikes," said the secretary. "And then it will be up to Congress."

NO ONE ASKED WHEN. The impression was — soon. But there's really no timetable set, insiders know. There are not even any concrete answers. Mr. Shultz reflects President Nixon. Neither wants a congressional brawl over strike legislation. They don't want to ram heads with the laborleaders. They want to concentrate on jobs and manpower training and welfare and the monstrosity of the cities.

There are more jobs around than takers. Yet there is an employment problem. This is Mr. Shultz' prime concern — jobs and employment, especially in the central city. The Nixon administration is "result-oriented" he said.

Getting into a knockdown fight with the labor movement would just complicate and supercharge matters and make Congress unmanageable, and that's the last thing Mr. Nixon and his colleagues want.

So despite Mr. Shultz' disclosure that the President would be sending along some general antistrike legislation, it's a long way off.

FOR "EVIDENCE" of White House policy on intervention in emergency strikes, Mr. Shultz said slowly and softly, look at what happened during the dock stoppage. The White House and the Labor Department did not clobber anyone. They just mediated and mediated — quietly and behind the scenes. And the strike ended.

Someone out of earshot of Mr. Shultz said, just as quietly, "Yes, but it lasted 100 days and cost the American economy $4 billion . . . and is still costing scores of millions as the docks are unsnarled."

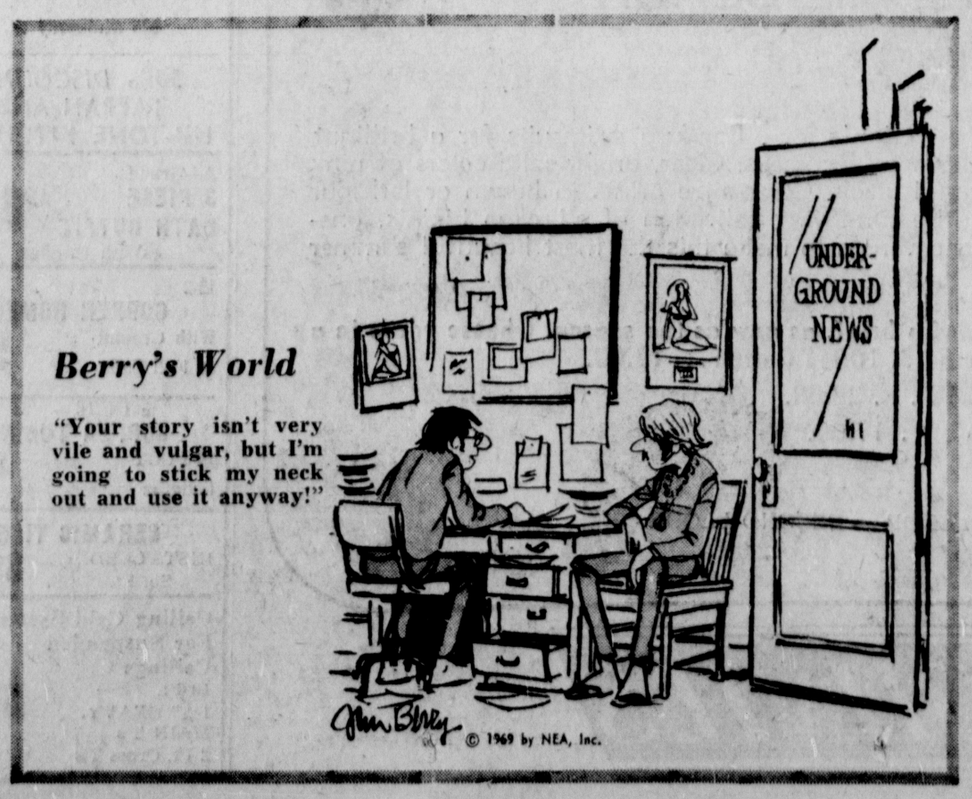
Of course, earlier Mr. Shultz had said the government just would not tolerate a national railway strike. He would go to Congress. But that insinuated a one-shot deal and not general legislation.

At one point, while talking about keeping wages and prices in line, he hit the keynote of the evening, perhaps of the next four years.

"Let's stop kidding ourselves," said he, the country boy to the sophisticated diners who provided the leaders of the distinguished American Arbitration Assn.'s 16,000 associates and the leadership of American industry as well.

"Let's wait and see," said Mr. Secretary. Meanwhile? Moderation and gradualism on all fronts from the grim strike problem to the "affirmative action" program for jobs for black workers.

If, in the end, said Mr. Shultz, we can't mediate, then we'll pull the trigger and use sanctions. But for the moment, Mr. Nixon's philosophy, it appears, will prevail: no slogans, gradualism, no clobbering, just be "result-oriented."



DAVID LAWRENCE

Integration

WASHINGTON — Congress, in a 1968 law, forbade utilization of federal funds as a means of coercing public school systems to bus students or take other action in order to "overcome racial imbalance."

The Supreme Court has ruled against deliberate segregation but has not, in effect, compelled "integration" in the schools where racial proportions vary according to residential circumstances. The school boards of the country nevertheless are perplexed as to what they can and cannot do.

Carl F. Hansen won high praises as superintendent of schools in Washington when he put an end to international segregation of public schools in the nation's capital following the "desegration" decision of the Supreme Court in May 1954.

HE CONTINUED to work toward integration for more than a decade but retired in 1967 rather than comply with an opinion rendered by Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Mr. Hansen, on his own initiative, has just written an article on the situation. It is published in the current issue of "U.S. News & World Report," and he says in part:

"If you live in a small Nevada town — or in one in Iowa or Ohio for that matter — and your schools are mostly white, you may actually be flouting a court ruling that says that racially imbalanced schools run against the Constitution of the United States.

"If your schools have all-white faculties, you may someday be ordered to hire 13 per cent black teachers to make the percentage fit in with the ratio of blacks to whites in the national population.

"If you live in a city like Washington or Chicago, you may someday have to see to it that the proportion of the poor in any school does not exceed the percentage of the poor in the entire city.

"If you refuse to attempt to get a balance between the poor and the nonpoor in your schools through voluntary exchanges across school-district and even state lines, you may find yourself in contempt of court.

Mr. Hansen says these requirements may ultimately result from a doctrine of "de jure integration," which means integration imposed by judicial edict or law.

HE POINTS OUT that Judge Wright did not confine himself merely to racial factors but dealt with "social imbalance as well," and that the ruling had overridden the conclusions of at least eight federal courts which had said that it is not the duty of a board of education to eliminate segregation arising from natural causes.

He cites what happened in New York City where, four and a half years ago, two schools, one mostly white and the other Negro, were "paired" with the promise that the race ratio would be 65 per cent whites and 35 per cent black in each of the two schools. Today the white enrollment is down to 35 per cent in each. He adds:

"Washington is an example of very rapid changes in race ratios over a period of a few years. From 1950 to 1967, the white school membership dropped from 46,736 to 11,784 while the black membership jumped from 47,980 to 139,364.

"Enrollment figures show that formerly all-white Washington public schools invariably moved to 75 per cent black membership two years after the 50 per cent point was reached. In each such school, the black membership quickly moved thereafter to 99 per cent.

"The new and important discovery was that when a formerly all-white school approached 30 per cent black membership, the rate of change increased. Within two years, the black membership reached the 50 per cent point, from which it moved to 75 per cent within the next two years. The important finding is that the starting point for rapid white exodus is 30 per cent.

"A POLICE STATE with unlimited enforcement power will be needed to implement integration if it is required by law."

The emphasis at first was placed on eliminating intentional segregation. The courts have been reluctant, however, to say that, if a school district happens to be in a predominantly white or Negro area, it is obliged to bus children from other parts of the city or suburbs to bring about a "racial balance."

Now the question is arising as to how far the states and cities, of their own accord and in response to local demands, will find themselves moving in the direction of artifical "integration."

ANN LANDERS

Send Unfit To Vietnam?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Do you realize that more than 30,000 of our young men have been killed in Vietnam?

As an American girl who is not gorgeous, brilliant, chic or stacked, I would have a tough enough time getting a guy without the added problem of this terrible shortage of males on the marriage market. At the rate we're going, about 100 women a week become either widows or spinsters.

Why don't we send the drug addicts, the cripples and the physically unfit to fight the war and leave the healthy young men at home to lead normal lives and beget normal, healthy children? What's the answer? — FRIGHENED BY STATISTICS.

Dear Frightened: There are no easy answers. At least I don't know of one. I will not discuss the merits of the Vietnan War (or the lack of merit) but I will say, the horrible and illogical aspect of any war is that it does indeed kill off the flower of our youth — the young men whose unborn children would have been an asset to the nation and to the world.

Unfortunately, no country can afford to put its dregs into uniform. A war must be bought by the cream of the crop because they'll be pitted against the very best men the enemy can muster. Insane, isn't it?

Took Wrong Road

Dear Ann: Your excellent advice to "Star Sister" prompts me to write my first letter to any columnist.

That letter really struck home because I fell into the same miserable trap and have been paying for it ever since. I was one oof those foolish young women who married a man I didn't love because he "cried when I tried to break off with him."

You can't imagine the heartaches, the tragedy and the ugliness that marriage brought to the lives of at least 10 people. How I wish there had been an Ann Landers to write to 35 years ago!

As you suggested, the girl should urge the young man to get professional help— then drop him. Without help he'll surely attach himself to some unsuspecting person and ruin her life. — IT HAPPENED TO ME.

Dear Friend: A letter from one who has been there is much more effective than any advice I might offer. Thanks for stepping forward.

Needling Nurse

Dear Ann: Our school nurse is a hard-boiled sourpuss who hates teen-agers. The only way a person can get sent home is to be pronounced officially dead by the coroner.

During the flu epidemic Miss Sourpuss gave shots to the kids who brought signed okays from home. You should have seen the black-and-blue marks. She must have used square needles. Some of our parents got awfully mad about it.

How come our family doctors can give shots and not leave a single mark? What did Sourpuss do wrong? — OUTCHI-THURTS.

Dear Ouch: When a shot leaves a black and blue mark it means the needle hit a vein. This is not serious and some of the best doctors do it occasionally.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

GUY ENSINGER
Receives Scholarship.

Guy D. Ensinger Will Attend OSU On ROTC Grant

Guy Daniel Ensinger, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ensinger of 874 Logan St., has been awarded a full ROTC scholarship to Ohio State University.

The scholarship pays all tuition and book and fee expenses, as well as $50 monthly. Upon completion of college, Ensinger will fulfill his military obligations.

He will receive the monthly allowance with the exception of summer camp, at which time he will receive one-half the pay of a second lieutenant. Col. Andrew G. Sterrett, ROTC instructor, said that because Ensinger is planning to major in engineering, the scholarship will amount to more than $8,000.

Ensinger, a senior at the high school, is active in DeMolay, Key Club, is a member of the National Honor Society and served as basketball manager.

He has a sister Cynthia, 14, and a brother, Mark, 11.

Palestine Driver Faces Charge Of 'Leaving Scene'

An East Palestine driver was cited for leaving the scene of two accidents within five minutes of each other.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the first occurred on Route 14 when a westbound car driven by Edna M. Hirt, 53, of 405 W. North Ave., East Palestine, was struck by a southbound auto driven by Donald F. Tomaske, 34, of 279 Park Ave., East Palestine.

Tomasek failed to stop following the collision, the patrol said, and five minutes later, on Route 165, about a half - mile north of Route 14, started to pass another southbound car operated by Mrs. Beverly A. Quinn, 21, of New Castle, when his auto was forced back into the lane of traffic by a northbound vehicle and struck the Quinn auto in the rear.

Tomasek again left he scene of the accident, but later returned, the patrol said.

Mrs. Quinn complained of injuries, but said she would contact her family physician.

The DOCTOR Says

Find Cause, Then Treat Bony Spurs

Q—My husband has bony spurs on his heels. What is the cause and what treatment ment should he get?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Bony spurs of the heel are seen chiefly in men who are over 50 and are overweight. Poorly fitted shoes and arthritis may also be factors in the cause. The treatment must aim at removing the cause if possible. The inside of the shoes should be padded to take the pressure off the tender spot. Surgical removal of the spur is rarely advisable and, when it is done, the spur may form again, especially if the cause is still present.

Q—How long does it take for complete recovery from a broken femur? What could cause incomplete healing?

A—Fracture of the femur takes three to six months to heal. The slower healing is seen in the elderly. In older persons with a fracture of the neck of the femur, usually referred to as a fractured hip, a solid union is delayed or may fail because of the poor circulation in this portion of the bone, because of an imperfect alignment of the fragments or, in the case of an open fracture, because of infection.

Q—What is the cause of acute pyogenic osteomyelitis? What are the symptoms? Is it serious? Can it be cured?

A—This is a pus-forming infection of the bone marrow. It is usually caused by a streptococcus or staphylococcus. In the acute stage the symptoms are pain over the infected bone, chills, fever and loss of appetite. Since the discovery of antibiotics it is rarely fatal but it can become a chronic disabling disease unless it is promptly controlled. The infected marrow must be scraped out surgically before effective antibiotic treatment can be applied.

Q—What is the cause of Bell's Palsy? Is there any cure?

A—One-sided facial paralysis may be caused by a severe blow to the side of the head, exposure to cold, infection or a tumor pressing on the facial nerve. You should protect your face from the cold since this will aggravate the condition. Drugs of the cortisone group may be helpful if given early in the course of the disease. About 80 per cent of the victims recover spontaneously in about nine weeks.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

ing the eight - week offensive. But Vietnamese and American firemen kept a blaze touched off by one rocket from spreading to 10 big oil storage tanks close by.

The Da Nang attack was one of about 15 during the night against military bases and civilian population centers and the enemy offensive moved into its 54th day.

Forty mortar rounds hit the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's Diamond III base northwest of Saigon and just east of the Cambodian border, where 200 or more of the enemy were killed in a battle Monday night.

The U.S. Command said the mortar barrage Wednesday night caused no casualties, but a sweep of the area after dawn produced the bodies of 20 North Vietnamese who apparently were killed by helicopter gunships and artillery that went into action during the bombardment of the base.

The number of enemy "indirect fire" attacks during the night was typical of the past month of the offensive, now in its eighth week. It was only slightly above the average number of nightly attacks before the offensive began Feb. 23, but U.S. military officials maintain that the offensive is still going on.

U.S. officials responsible for the defense of the Saigon area say intelligence reports vary as to how long the offensive is to continue. One date that has turned up in recently acquired evidence is May 30.

One of these officers commented: "We say it's an offensive because the enemy does. We obviously have no way of knowing when it will end, except by what the enemy tells us."

Da Nang, on the coast about 400 miles northeast of Saigon, was attacked just before and just after midnight. It was the first attack on the city in nearly a month although it has been a frequent target because of its many bases and installations.

paign, reported receipts of $33,881, or $881 more than for the 1967 campaign.

Eighty-five per cent remains in the county for the local program of education and service, he said, while 7 per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association and 8 per cent to the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mrs. M. D. McCutcheon of East Liverpool received a gold charm with double-barred cross for 30 years' service. Mrs. Arlene Scotton of Wellsville received a double-barred cross pin for 10 years' service. Lawrence made the presentations.

F. H. Bezdek of Lisbon RD, alternate representative director to OTHA, read a tribute in memory of the late E. S. Kerr, Salem educator, who served the health league from 1946 until his death July 29, 1968.

Lillian R. Schroeder of Salem, executive director, said the TB association, in line with the national association, is expanding its fight against tuberulosis to include emphysema, air pollution and cigarette smoking.

She said 9,240 received free chest X-rays from the Christmas Seal X-ray unit the past year. The total included 944 workers in industries and 8,296 in public surveys. Heart and cardiovasular abnormalities totaled 179, she said, and 214 persons were in need of further study because of conditions such as emphysema, bronchitis, pneumoconiosis and tumors.

Miss Schroeder noted that the health league cooperated with the County Medical Society and County Health and Safety Council in promoting "Measles Sunday" last July 14 when more than 2,000 children received vaccine.

She said the health league keeps abreast of all proposed health legislation through the OTHA's legislative committee. She said Senate Bill 1 would require annual TB examinations for those entering school, selected grades and all personnel in Ohio schools.

Donald Elliott of Rogers, representative director to the OTHA, reported that TB associations last year followed Ohio's lead to protest successfully against the national organization's idea of larger local organizations with greater dependence on the national unit for guidance.

National also withdrew its proposal that its authority be broadened to permit it to assume control of the assets of constituent and affiliate organizations whenever they failed to comply with requirements of its contract, Elliott said.

The league last September completed purchase of a lot and frame church hall north of its office on N. Market St.

Dr. Frits van der Kuyp, medical director of the Cuyahoga County tuberculosis control program, was guest speaker.

He termed an undiagnosed and unsuspected case of active TB in a community "a real hazard."

He needed a need for expanded clinic services, since the hospital stay of TB patients has been shortened. He said hours should be reasonably acceptable to the patients and suggested evening or Saturday morning hours.

The speaker recommended large - scale use of INH (isoniazid) to protect family contacts of TB patients, shortening hospitalization and allowing patients to return to work, involving the private physician in case - finding and drug therapy, and expanding and updating laboratory services.

New Cumberland Sets Sewage Refund Plans

NEW CUMBERLAND—A plan was set up here Wednesday night for repayment of money to residents incorrectly billed for sewage service.

The action was taken during a joint session of Council and the water sewage board and Mayor Arthur Watson.

The report will be forwarded to the Public Service Commission at Charleston in line with the commission's order for a progress report on the matter each 30 days.

A hearing was held last Oct. 2 at Charleston and the commission submits its findings in a letter to New Cumberland officials Feb. 27.

Don Lemasters represented the water board at Wednesday night's meeting.

The state commission not only instructed the refunding of money to non-sewer customers but called for certain improvements in the water system.

Council approved legislation refunding money, plus interest, to the 30 persons listed by the PSC.

Mrs. Nedra Schlee, city clerk, said the plan for repayment is as follows: All sewage revenue from regular customers will be held back until the $2,700 due non-sewage customers is refunded. When that amount is accumulated, customers will be notified as to how and when they can receive their refund.

Another meeting is scheduled Friday night on the refunds.

The city has three months in which to make payment.

Mayor Watson announced a special public Council meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the city building. Dr. Vernon Wyland will discuss the city's new playground which is being constructed on property owned by the Hancock County board of education.

Paul McCraw, 9-year-old East End youngster who received a kidney transplant April 3 at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, remains in "satisfactory condition at the hospital.

A high fever the youngster was suffering over the weekend has been reduced, the family reports, but apparently there remains uncertainty over functioning of the new kidney.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCraw of Mulberry St., the boy and a Beaver Falls area girl received the kidneys of a 9-year-old girl who died just prior to the operation.

More than $2,200 has been contributed by tri - state area residents toward the mounting hospital bills for the boy in a fund administered by The Review.

"With the spotlight of attention on them," he said, "something is going to be done.

"We recognize this is the case, and we intend to do something about it."

But not everyone was convinced the start would be continued.

Gaming Action Brings Acquittal

WHEELING — A Pittsburgh area man, convicted last year of traveling interstate to promote gambling in Hancock County, was acquitted Tuesday in U. S. District Court here.

Judge Robert E. Maxwell directed the acquittal of Joseph Santoriello, one of the Pittsburgh men arrested in the November 1967 raid on the Red Dog Casino, two miles east of Chester.

Judge Maxwell said his decision for acquittal rather than for a new trial was based on a 1962 ruling by the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va. He said that he was not holding that the law under which Santoriello was arrested and convicted is unconstitutional, but that the evidence as presented by federal attorneys was "not sufficient to support the guilty verdict" returned by the jury in March 1968.

Judge Maxwell continued that conviction on a charge of traveling interstate for gambling purposes requires proof that the defendant "promoted or facilitated" the game. Testimony at Santoriello's trial did not prove conclusively that the Pittsburgh man was an employe of the Red Dog even though he was seen "walking around in the gaming area."

Santoriello is the last of those arrested as the result of the Hancock raids to have his case concluded. The others cited were either acquitted or received suspended sentences.

Elkton Area News

The first and second grades tied for the attendance banner. Mrs. Raymond Baker, retiring president, presided.

The next meeting will be May 12, with officers to be installed. The program will be presented by the Elkton Merry Maids 4-H Club.

The Town and Country Club met at the home of Mrs. Nel Skeels of Fairfield, with a coverdish luncheon featured. Prizes for games were won by Miss Twila Carlisle, Mrs. Freeman McMillan and Mrs. Lester Wisler. Mrs. James Crowl of Lisbon will be the next hostess.

Mrs. Richard Neville was hostess to her 500 club, with prizes going to Mrs. Ralph Moore, Mrs. William Doll and Mrs. George Reeder.

Mrs. Moore will be the next hostess at her home on the Elkton - Signal Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold of Elkton and Mrs. Gladys Sullivan of Lisbon have returned from a visit to Columbus.

Policeman's Wife Nabbed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dorothy Billings, the 31-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh policeman, was unaware when she started home from a bakery shop that her her next half hour would be one of terror.

As she approached her home in Pittsburgh Wednesday afternoon, police said, she was pulled into a black Cadillac by three men. For the next 30 minutes, she was beaten and threatened.

The men said they would kill Mrs. Billings unless she convinced her husband to back down on an arrest he made several months ago, police said.

had broken into the building in the afternoon by smashing a glass door. The breakin came after a campus rally attended by more than 1,000 students.

Officials had ordered the building locked earlier because of a closed student-faculty hearing on last week's suspension of Colin Neiburger, a Baltimore, Md. student and SDS member.

Neiburger and seven other students were suspended last week after a clash between SDS members and university police when the students tried to force their way into the administration building. The SDS chapter was also suspended by the school.

After entering the music and speech building Wednesday, the students forced a third floor steel door open and stopped the hearing, shouting for an open hearing.

Officials suspended the hearing.

Traffic Charges Bring Two Fines

Traffic charges brought fines to two motorists in Municipal Court Wednesday morning.

Harold E. Stull of 943 St. George S., appearing before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, was fined $5 and costs for driving wtih expired license plates. He was picked up by city police about 1:50 a.m. on Pennsylvania Ave., almost two hours after the deadline for the new tags had expired.

Dwayne A. Grafton of the Y. and O. Rd. was ordered to pay $15 and costs for speeding 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7 last Friday about 10:30 p. m. He was cited by Ohio highway patrolmen.

Plane

to be broadcast live by television and radio networks.

Nixon's silence was pictured by officials as reflecting the decision he made after being notified of the North Korean claim to say nothing until all the facts werre known about the loss of the EC121.

Before today, the only White House reaction came from press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who described Nixon as following the situation very closely and discussing it with his advisors. Of course, he said, the chief executive deplores the loss of any American lives.

Nixon canvassed developments Wednesday with his National Security Council before, late in the day, meeting for 90 minutes with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

The American silence was contrasted by North Korea's public statement since it first broadcast the claim of destroying the plane.

Claims Desire For War

North Korean Defense Minister Gen. Choi Hyun said Thursday the incident demonstrates a United States desire to ignite a new war in Korea.

In a congratulatory message to the unit credited with shooting down the American plane, Choi said the reconnaissance flight was a "brigandish provocative act comitted by the U. S. imperialist aggressors as part of their planned war preparations for igniting a new war in Korea."

The Pentagon has denied in strong terms that the plane, a Super Constellation modified for electronic surveillance, flew over North Korea.

"From a variety of sources, some of them sensitive, we are able to confirm that at all times during the mission the aircraft was far outside any claimed territorial airspace of North Korea," a Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday.

tion of a protest, there was no immediate evidence Nixon planned armed retaliation. An alternative short of this could be a beefing up of U. S. defenses in the area, especially for future surveillance flights.

No Show Of Might

Orders to the carrier Kitty Hawk and two destroyers to sail from Hong Kong on a secret mission—shortly after their arrival there from Vietnam—were described as a part of contingency planning rather than a calculated show of military might against North Korea.

Congressional response has been restrained since the incident came to light.

General Senate reaction fell far short of demands for armed retaliation. Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., normally hawkish, said military reaction could precipitate a second U.S. involvement in Asia that the public would find hard to understand or accept.

He advised a "strong high level warning" that any repetition would bring a response befitting a hostile act.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., commented, "I don't think anybody should make any statements until we know more about it."

Little League Reports Field Fencing Taken

Five rolls of snow fence to be used for a Little League baseball field are missing, City Auditor Lawrence Zollinger, league treasurer, reported today.

Zollinger said they were among eight rolls taken to the Farrell Field on the Campground Rd. last week for erection Tuesday prior to the opening of the season.

He said the rolls of fencing, 15 in all, were purchased last year at a cost of about $9.50 each for use at the various parks.

Zollinger said he notified the constable in the area of the theft.

What's Second Degree Murder?

Jury In Sirhan's Case Asking Pointed Question

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tense, weary and unsmiling, defendant and jury eyed each other in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial as the jurors asked a pointed question: What is second degree murder in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy?

It indicated, as the jurors went into their fourth day of deliberation today, that they are taking soundings about the doctrine of diminished responsibility on which the defense pins its hopes for a second degree verdict.

The legal instructions for all the verdicts possible in the case —first degree murder, second degree, manslaughter and acquittal—were read to the jury Monday and there is a copy in the jury room. But it's a complicated subject.

Jury foreman Bruce D. Elliott sent a note to Judge Herbert V. Walker Wednesday asking for a rereading of the instruction that defines second degree murder.

The buzzer sounded in the courtroom and 36 minutes later, Sirhan and his lawyers, the prosecutors, all the various court personnel and the judge were assembled. It was the first time they were together since the jury began its deliberations Monday.

Judge Walker reread the paragraph and said he would read another instruction that would make the point clearer.

The new explanation, read rapidly and nonstop by the judge, went like this:

"If you find from the evidence that at the time the defendant shot and killed Sen. Robert Kennedy his mental capacity had been substantially reduced, whether caused by mental illness or intoxication or a combination of mental illness and imbibing intoxicating beverages, or any other cause, or if you find that the defendant's mental capacity was diminished or reduced to the extent that you have a reasonable doubt whether he did or could maturely and meaningfully premeditate, deliberate and reflect upon the gravity of his contemplated act or form an intent to kill, you cannot convict him of a willful, deliberate or premeditated murder of the first degree but you may find him guilty of murder in the second degree if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that he had the mental capacity to harbor or entertain malice aforethought."

The 69-year-old judge then peered over his glasses at the jury and said: "Does that clarify it for you?"

The seven men and five women in the jury box nodded solemnly and were sent back to their room one flight up. An hour later they adjourned for the night, still without reaching a verdict.

Sirhan looked more worried than he did at any time during the 14 weeks of trial. He seemed to study each juror's face intently.

The prosecution asked for a verdict of first degree murder, which requires a subsequent penalty trial to determine whether the sentence is death or life in prison. Parole, under a first degree life sentence, is theoretically possible after seven years.

A second degree verdict, with an indeterminate sentence of five years to life, was asked by the defense. The California Adult Authority sets the term at some future date, but parole is theoretically possible after 3½ years.

Patrol's Use In Riots Pushed By Crime Head

By JOHN R. THOMAS

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Allowing the use of the Ohio Highway Patrol in local riots would remove two areas where mistakes have been made by other law enforcement agencies, the head of the Ohio Crime Commission and said Wednesday night.

Robert Macklin was testifying on a bill that would allow the patrol to be sent into a riot situation by the governor upon request by mayors or sheriffs.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-Canton, passed the House several weeks ago and received its first Senate hearing before the judiciary committee Wednesday night.

MACKLIN said the crime commission found that two mistakes which have been made in riot situations were failure to provide sufficient numbers of men early enough and overreaction by those forces brought in.

He said he feels the Ohio Highway Patrol would rectify the mistakes. Reiterating testimony given earlier by Patrol Supt. Col. Robert M. Chairamonte, Macklin said the patrol could send in 100 men in one hour's notice and 200 in 1½ hour's time.

He also noted "that patrolmen are more tolerant and capable of dealing with problems in riot situations than other forces."

During testimony, Levitt alluded to the growing opposition to the bill by sheriffs by saying, "I understand there are rumblings of discontent by certain local law enforcement officers in Ohio. However, the interest of the people is paramount, not the particular interest or organized law enforcement agencies."

He was referring to the Buckeye State Sheriffs Association, which has been writing letters to legislators asking the bill's defeat in the Senate.

Levitt also guided the measure through the House two years ago, only to see the governor's office kill it.

Asked if he knew why the governor apparently has dropped his opposition to the bill now, Levitt said, "I wouldn't want to venture a guess on that question."

"However, several of about 16 sheriffs in the audience were asked why they thought the governor had dropped his opposition.

"He wants a state police force," many said.

In other testimony, Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Delcorso said the "patrol has no peer with any other police agency."

"Experience has shown us that to stop violence, we must stop the action at its inception. If a few men can't stop it, it can at least be contained until more men can be brought in," the general said.

MOST OF the sheriffs' opposition to the bill revolves around what they say is unclear language concerning their authority. They claim that they are being bypassed when the bill allows mayors to request patrol help from the governor.

"As the statutory and constitutional chief law enforcement officers in the state, we (the sheriffs) should be consulted on every step," one sheriff said after the hearing.

In addition to Levitt, Delcorso and Chiaramonte, representatives of the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police and the Columbus police department testified for the bill.

The sheriffs say they will testify against the bill during a future hearing, a step they failed to do when the measure was in House committee.

Also opposing the bill is organized labor, although the House amended the bill on the floor to exempt labor strikes from patrol action.

Labor, however, is not expected to testify against the bill in hearing, although individual legislators probably will be hearing from labor leaders as the bill nears the end of committee hearings and heads for a floor vote.

City Youngsters Offered Bicycle Check And Tape

The second annual "Lite A Bike" program of East Liverpool VFW Post 66 will be held Saturday afternoon.

City youngsters have been invited to have special red reflector tape placed on their bicycles in a campaign to make cycling safer on the city's streets.

Al Dray of 933 Bank St., district VFW chairman for the project, said the program will include inspection of the bicycles, tests of the rider's ability and application of the reflectorized tape as a supplement to the proper lighting equipment.

The sessions will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. at the city's four fire stations — East End, North Side, Central and Pleasant Heights.

VFW members will be assisted by city firemen and members of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Some 150 children visited the centers last year, but more than 500 are expeted this year, Dray said.

The reflective tape is supplied without cost to the VFW national headquarters by the Three M Co.

Harry Deem, post commander, will be in charge at the Pleasant Heights station, Dray at Central, Harold Martin at East End and Bob Carroll at North Side.

Iraq Sounds Objections To Guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi government has told Palestinian guerrilla organizations that it objects to their presence in Iraq, the Communist newspaper Al Nida said today.

The paper published the text of a recent note from Iraq's ruling revolutionary council to the main guerrilla organizations. Guerrilla sources here indicated the published note was authentic.

Signs of friction between the Iraqi government and the guerrilas appeared earlier this month when the Baghdad regime stopped broadcasting communiques issued by Al Fatah, the largest of the guerrilla organizations. The broadcasts were mainly beamed to the Persian Gulf emirates, whose people contribute large sums to the guerrillas.

The Baath party regime in Iraq also formed its own guerrilla group, called the Arab Liberation Front, and said its activities will be ideological as well as military.

Despite its refusal to cooperate with the guerrillas, the Iraqi regime of President Ahmed Hassan Al Bakr has rejected a political settlement with Israel.

Group Begins File Of Items For Display

LEETONIA — The Columbiana County Historical Association Wednesday night began compiling a file of antique items readily available for display at special events.

John Simonds of Leetonia RD presided during the dinner meeting in the St. Patrick School auditorium.

A window display of historical items of countywide interest is being planned for the Johnny Appleseed Festival Sept. 18-20 in Lisbon.

Simonds appointed Miss Marian Blood of Salem chairman of a committee to contact local historical societies and work with them in conducting a survey of historical landmarks. The project is under the auspices of the Eastern Ohio Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Simonds read a letter from the County Forests and Parks Council thanking the association for obtaining a marker for Williamsport Chapel in Beaver Creek State Park.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. May 13 in the Salem Masonic Temple, with the Salem Historical Society as host. Joseph Belan Jr. of Salem will discuss primitive and early Spanis architecture in Mexico.

A tour of the River Museum in Wellsville is being planned for the June meeting, Simonds said.

Meeting Slated For Two-County Police Program

City planning coordinator Don Eckert will attend a subcommittee meeting of District 8, Council of Governments, Friday with the group's newest member — Ronald Gause, special investigator for County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis.

Eckert said Gause was appointed by Bettis after the prosecutor declined to serve because of his work load.

The four-man committee will meet in Alliance to study the two offices which are planned for Columbiana and Stark counties. Arrangements will be made then for interviews for personnel to staff the offices.

Eckert said any law enforcement officer interested in the job could contact him or Gause. Eckert said the applicant should have a thorough knowledge of law enforcement, public relations and a sense of planning.

The offices will assist cities in obtaining federal funds for training, equipment and improvements to the overall department program. Some building funds may be available also.

Eckert said he will attend a meeting of the American Society of Planning Officials Monday through Wednesday at Cincinnati along with an Ohio Planning Conference meeting there.

With Few Exceptions

Mansfield Gives Nixon Legislative Plans Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield with a few exceptions, has given good marks to President Nixon's newly detailed legislative program.

"By and large I approve of what he has suggested," Mansfield said in an interview. "I am pleased to note that he has placed strong emphasis on peace as his first priority."

The Montana senator also said the President's proposed budget changes and planned revisions of existing programs add up to "a cautious and careful" approach to domestic problems.

Mansfield said he approves of Nixon's plan to increase funds for fighting crime and the proposal to extend tax credits to encourage private business plant investment in ghetto areas.

But, Mansfield said, he thinks Congress should slash spending by an additional $1 billion to add to the $4 billion cut proposed by the President. Nixon wants a budget for fiscal 1970 of $192.9 billion, $4 billion under former President Johnson's figure.

Nixon said the trimming is necessary to fight inflation, which he has indicated is among the first orders of domestic business.

Mansfield also said he does not regard Nixon's proposal for a 7 per cent increase in social security benefits as sufficient. He said the increase should be around 10 per cent.

Mansfield indicated he thinks Nixon will win his fight to close 59 Job Corps centers, a move some Democrats have lined up to fight.

"I think the advantage is on the President's side in this controversy," said Mansfield who himself has expressed misgivings over the closings. "Once you begin to dismantel these centers it becomes harder to reinstate them and a good deal more costly, too boot."

Mansfield's pleasure over Nixon's program is not shared by all his Democratic colleagues.

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin said earlier that the $4 billion budget cut is "grossly inadequate." Government spending should be sliced $12 billion to allow expiration of the 10 per cent income surtax, which would be "far better inflationary medicine," he said.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, another Wisconsin Democrat, was critical of Nixon's proposed spending cuts, but for different reasons. He indicated the slash, which includes a $390 million trimming of "human resources" programs is going in the wrong direction.

Instead, he proposed spending an additional $1 billion for combatting hunger and extending the War on Poverty for five years, instead of the one year advocated by Nixon.

This would make "a really meaningful war on hunger" possible, he said.

Huge Antenna Gets Plugged Into Global Network Monday

HONOLULU (AP) — A huge antenna that can snatch a space whisper and turn it into a loud message gets plugged into a global satellite network next Monday.

The antenna, taller than a 10-story building, will lock onto an Intelsat 3, a commercial communications satellite hanging in orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific Ocean.

It will forge a new major link in overseas communications between Hawaii and the U.S. mainland and Japan and the Philippines, Thailand and Australia.

Addition of the 390-ton antenna will make Hawaii's Paumalu earth station the world's largest for commercial satellite communications.

The antenna, 97 feet across, will pull in the faint signals from the Intelsat 3 and sort them into a telephone call or a color television program.

With it, say the experts, a Hawaii resident telephoning Tokyo will hear the voice at the other end as clearly as if it were coming from the house next door.

The big dish also will handle signals that will keep hundreds of teletypes chattering across the wide Pacific basin—all in a fraction of a second.

The second Intelsat 3 satellite was launched Feb. 5. It is part of a series that began with the world's first commercial communications satellite, Early Bird, which flew into space from Cape Kennedy in 1965.

The two Intelsat 3s, each capable of handling 1,200 two-way voice circuits, are five times more powerful than their commercial predecessors.

Hawaii's Paumalu earth station is one of six U.S. stations located in five states and Puerto Rico. It sits on a bluff overlooking the ocean about 40 miles north of Honolulu.

The mainland stations are at Andover, Maine, Brewster Flat, Wash., Etam, W.Va., and Jamesburg, Calif.

They are jointly owned by communications firms under a formula set by the government.

Home Is Toured By Auxiliary Of Medical Society

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Columbiana County Medical Society toured the County Home near Lisbon Tuesday.

Guiding the tour were William Hiscox and JoAnn Mercer, a registered nurse.

The tour included the nursing unit built in 1964 and also the older buildings which recently have been remodeled.

The Auxiliary hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. William Horger and Mrs. Janis Lauva, presented 30 dozens of cookies to the home residents.

Refreshments were served to the members after a brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Stephen Sinclair, president.

The annual Rose Luncheon will be held May 20 at 12:30 p.m. at the Salem Golf Club. Mrs. Virgil Hart, chairman, said guests are welcome.

The Crusades began before 1100 and lasted nearly until 1300.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean a suede jacket?

A.—This is best done by a professional. But one often-successful method consists of rubbing the suede throughly with a mixture of equal parts fuller's earth and alum, then following with a good brushing.

Q.—How can I prevent nylon cord or twine from fraying at a cut end?

A.—By heating the cut end over a small flame. Nylon will melt and the strands will bond into a solid unit. Knots can be prevented from working loose by this same treatment.

Areas In Oklahoma Ripped By Tornadoes

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes punished numerous towns and countryside areas of Oklahoma Wednesday night as part of a violent weather pattern extending northeastward into Illinois.

The twisters leveled homes, uprooted trees and tossed cars about in many parts of Oklahoma, particularly in the southern section of the state.

No fatalities were reported, but several persons were injured.

Funnel clouds also were sighted in Missouri and Kansas.

Pennsylvania Senate Okays 6% Sales Tax

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania General Assembly has proved once again the age-old axiom that there is nothing as permanent as a temporary tax.

By a vote of 36-6, the Senate passed a bill Wednesday that would maintain the state sales tax at 6 per cent. The levy is scheduled to revert to 5 per cent July 1.

The measure, approved last month by the House, was sent to Gov. Shafer who, according to an aide, will sign it into law.

"The governor has advocated passage of this bill to assure at least continuation of government revenues at the current levels," the aide explained.

Passage of the tax bill climaxed the legislative work week. Both House and Senate adjourned until next Monday afternoon.

The House met only 40 minutes and postponed action on any controversial bills because of absenteeism. Two relatively minor measures were approved.

The sales tax was raised temporarily in January 1968 to make up for revenue lost during a six-month legislative fight over the governor's 1967 tax program.

In order to gain votes for the 6 per cent rate, the Republican sponsors inserted provision that the tax would return to 5 per cent in mid-1969.

The bill to make the 6 per cent rate permanent was seen by supporters on both sides of the aisle as an alternative to the governor's proposed income tax.

Shafer viewed the sales tax bill as merely a stop-gap measure and was expected to continue his push for an income levy to raise additional revenue.

One of the administration's alternative tax recommendations amounted to a 3 per cent income tax with exemptions and reduction of the sales tax to 5 per cent.

Opposition to the income tax was so strong in the legislature, however, that most observers considered it dead, at least for the 1968 session.

Efforts were under way in both the Appropriations committees of the House and Senate to scale down the governor's $2.5 billion budget requests for fiscal 1969-70.

Grass, New Lighting Slated As Thompson Park Projects

Grass seed was to be planted today at Thompson Park just east of the main entrance where the level area was recently plowed, Joseph Walters, park manager, said.

The soil had become sour and many bare spots developed, bringing the need for the project. Football and softball will be banned on the site to permit park visitors to use the area for walking or resting.

A football field has been provided near Shelter No. 3 and there are two other ball fields in the park, Walters pointed out.

Four portable restrooms have been installed in the park—two along the upper circle near the tennis courts and two near Shelter No. 3.

Walters said the portable facilities were installed for public use until construction is completed on new permanent rest rooms this summer.

He said the board of trustees has authorized closing of the Dewey Ave. Ext. entrance of the park to reduce the traffic hazard to pedestrians and to curb road deterioration.

Motorists have been using the entrance to travel through the park as a shorter route between areas of the city, Walters said. The roads are too narrow for such through traffic, endangering youngsters and causing damage to the roads which the park board must maintain.

The Anderson Blvd. entrance to the lower level of the park will remain open.

To provide better lighting separate master switches will be installed at each tennis court for use on an honor system. The coin-operated boxes which proved inadequate last year will be removed.

Players may turn on the lights when needed, and turn them off when they leave the courts. A coin box will be provided for those wishing to contribute to the cost of electrical power, he said. A clock device will turn off all the lights at 11 p.m.

Moore's Okay Of Salary Could Face Board Test

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. has approved a $15,000 a year salary for newly created Marshall University position in a dispute involving the interpretation of the range of the Modern Budget Amendment to the State Constitution.

In approving the $15,000 figure, Moore overruled a salary of $18,480 a year for the Marshall post that had been approved by the State Board of Education.

Moore's action could lead to a court test initiated by the board, but a board spokesman said it had not decided what course it would take.

At the center of the controversy is former state Finance Commissioner Joseph Peters who had been appointed to the job of director of finance and budget analysis.

The U.S. state with the longest official name is "The State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations."

Training Program Set For Head Start Work

LISBON — A training course for personnel and parents of children who will attend the nine summer Head Start classes will be held May 23-24 at McKinley School on E. Chestnut St.

Lionel Smith, director of the Columbiana County Community Action Agency, Inc., announced the course at the monthly board meeting Tuesday night at Village Hall. Chairman Alonzo Spencer of East Liverpool presided.

Smith said two new Head Start classes are planned for summer — one at the Salem YWCA and one at Salineville school. East Liverpool and Wellsville will have two classes each, Elkton and East Palestine one each and Lisbon-Leetonia, a combined class at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ north of here.

Smith also announced that the CAA has submitted a proposal to the state, asking financial help in setting up two Senior Citizen centers for residents qualifying under the poverty program.

One would be in the school at the East Liverpool Community Resource Center and the other in the Catholic church hall at Salineville, Smith said. Health services would be offered, he added, along with telephone reassurance, recreation and field trips.

Reports were given by Mrs. Anne King, director of the Southern Community Center at Salineville, and Mrs. Bea Henderson, director of the East Liverpool Resource Center.

Mrs. Georgia Beckwith, Robert Skinner and A. H. Wilson, all of Salneville, were elected to fiil vacancies on the 19-member board of trustees.

Daniel Butch of Leetonia, an employe of the County Welfare Department, was elected treasurer, succeeding Don Rudibaugh of Lisbon, resigned. The Rev. Paul Haney of Lisbon took office as vice president, replacing Alfred Stout of New Garden, resigned.

Operation of Head Start will be switched from the Office of Economic Opportunity to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare about July 1, according to information received by Smith.

Robert H. Finch, HEW secretary, said Head Start will be operated through a new Office of Child Development which will be located in his immediate office and report directly to him.

His letter to the county CAA said the new office will be designed to carry out President Nixon's expressed commitment to needs of children from birth to five years of age. The secretary said he will form an ongoing advisory committee on child development.

Smith said he was glad to read the secretary's statement that he will encourage replacement of many Head Start summer programs with full - year programs.

Columbiana County has three year-round Head Start centers, two in East Liverpool and one in Wellsville.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip Offered Home Sewer

DEAR HELOISE: For those who are home seamstresses and like to do their cutting-out on the bed, try taking the extension leaves from your dining room table (usually found in a closet 'cause they are seldom used) and putting them together on your bed.

Heloise

It makes a great cutting table.

I have even placed one on a dining room chair to hold my partially stitched pieces. Gives me a great deal of extra room.

BILLIE S.

-:::-

Let's have some drum beating and trumpets for this little stitch-in-time.

Don't most of us have extra table leaves in the closet?

Why not put 'em to use? Three cheers for Billie.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Some time ago I read one of your hints about bread wires. It was such a good one that I began saving those "twistems" like mad.

Now that I've accumulated several hundred of them, I've forgotten the hint. Could you please tell me as to what I'm saving them for?

WONDERING.

DEAR HELOISE: The mother who drops an ice cube in baby's hot cereal has a great idea. However, I prefer ice cream to give baby that extra bit of nourishment.

I also keep a jar of applesauce or other fruit sauce in the refrigerator. A couple of spoonfuls will cool baby's cereal in a jiffy too.

DONNA MEDLOCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I found a new use for old rubber gloves.

I cut off the fingertips about an inch or so and I use the gloves when I go fishing! They really protect my hands not only from brown spots and freckles, but are very handy when cleaning the fish. (The slippery fish don't slide!)

Afterwards, I just soak them in warm bleach water and I'm all set or the next bfig fishing trip.

MILDRED G.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell your readers to put those little dime-store windmills out in the garden when their tulips are coming up.

When the windmills turn, they ketp the rabbits away.

M.B.A.

DEAR HELOISE: My camera now has an inexpensive lens cover made from the snap-on plastic cap from a prescription bottle.

I put a strip of cellophane tape on the cap so it sticks up in front of the viewfinder, thus saving missed pictures.

C. M. A.

DEAR HELOISE: When my daughter got married, I purchased tiny white paper doilies, pulled them apart ahead of time and stacked them neatly beside the cake.

By holding a doily on the left side of the cake and cutting with the right hand, a slice can very easily be placed on the guest's plate.

No crumbling and no sticky fingers.

INEZ BENTON.

DEAR HELOISE: I love a foam cushion under my ironing board cover, but the ones sold with covers are not thick enough for me.

So I bought two thick foam floor mats (at a very nominal cost), traced my ironing board outline on each, taped them together and voila!

Now when I iron garments that have large or bulky buttons, the buttons just sink into the foam and I have a smooth ironing surface.

CLAIRE GARRIN.

Ex-Area Soldier Participates In Rites For 'Ike'

A former Chester resident, recipient of numerous awards for bravery in Vietnam, was a driver for the funeral of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Abilene, Kan.

Sgt. Rodger A. Green, nephew of Jack Green of 548 California Ave., was driver for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Firestone of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Green, in addition to escorting the Firestones, was non-commissioned officer in charge of the detachment. He also visited in Mrs. Eisenhower's private railroad car and attended the final committal services in the Eisenhower Chapel.

Green returned to the U.S. in December after spending a year in Vietnam. While stationed there he received a Bronze Star for valor, two Purple Hearts, two army commendation medals — one for valor and another for service — a Vietnamese cross of gallentry and an air medal.

Green, currently stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan., serves with the 67th signal battalion, a "garrison unit" of the Fifth Army.

Car Rams Pole, Two Youths Hurt

LISBON — Two Washingtonville youths were injured at 5:25 p.m. Wednesday on W. Lincoln Way (U.S. Route 30) near Morton St. when their car struck a telephone pole.

Police said George W. Cunningham Jr., 17, of 520 Main St. received a bruised chest and Ray Shimer, 16, of 245 High St. a puncture wound on the right side of the head. The youths told police they would go to their doctor for treatment.

Police referred Cunningham to Juvenile Court. They said he told them he was driving east, "tried to put something under the seat and something went wrong with the steering."

The 1954 sedan owned by Howard Summerman of 520 Main St. was towed away with front end damage. The impact broke the pole.

Fruit Stand Robbed Of $100 By Two Men

Two unidentified men took approximately $100 from a Smiths Ferry youth at a fruit stand on Route 68 in Ohioville at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Football has passed baseball as the number one sport in the United States, according to a Lou Harris poll.

Of the people queried, 31 per cent named football as their favorite sport, compared with 28 per cent for baseball. In 1968, football was 32 per cent and baseball 39 per cent. Large gains were registered by bowling (up from 4 to 8 per cent), auto racing (up from 2 to 7 per cent) and golf (up from 3 to 6 per cent.

Breaking own those questioned into groups, the survey showed football to be a man's sport, with women preferring bowling and basketball. Football is also the sport of those with high incomes, with baseball holding strong as the favorite of those with lower incomes. Football is very popular with the younger set. Football is also strong with the 35-50 age bracket, through basketball and golf also rate high. Those over 50 are the hard-core baseball fans, though many follow horse racing and bowling. Baseball is still the favorite among black people, with basketball also very popular.

THE REASONS behind the shift in popularity away from baseball are complex. An Illinois U. psychology professor ties in the popularity decline with the general discontent of youth in the nation today. "Baseball is very much 'establishment', and as youth becomes more anti-establishment it becomes more anti-baseball," says Rosalind Cartwright. Little Leagues are hurting baseball in this context, says Dr. Cartwright. "They institutionalized sandlot baseball—which kids used to love because it was so free—and dominated it with parent figures."

A 28-year-old Chicago lawyer puts it more simply: "Watching baseball is like watching chess—its too cerebral. Pro football has a lot of blood-and-guts action."

Reckless shifting of franchises and dilution of talent have not helped baseball's image. Neither have unwritten standards that encourage conformity by the players.

BUT BASEBALL is finally realizing that its popularity is declining. Moves have been made to reverse the trend. The appointment of a strong commissioner, Bowie Kuhn, was a step in the right direction. So was the lowering of the mound and the shrinking of the strike zone. There is no question that most fans enjoy a high-scoring game. The enforcement of the 20-second rule between pitches, aimed at eliminating some of the dead spots, is a good move.

Revolutionary moves have seen the expansion of the sport into Canada on a major league level. In Montreal, where ice hockey is usually the be-all and end-all of the sporting world, the first three sports pages on opening day were devoted to the brand-new Expos, with the champion Canadiens shoved to the back of the section. Splitting into divisions, through it may cheapen the World Series, seems to have the approval of the fans.

Given four close pennant races and increased hitting as evidenced by the early games, and baseball will surge back into the top spot in popularity.

Mason Wins, Braund Beaten

By TURK PIERCE

Beaver Local banged out 14 hits and whipped Midland 13-4 in a non-league baseball game at Beaver Local yesterday.

Mike Smith led the Beaver attack with four singles and a walk and three RBIs. Dave Mason was the winning pitcher, though he needed help from Ralph Wolford.

Greg Braund took the loss for the winless Leopards, with Bob Prodonovich finishing up. Mark Braund and Prodonovich had two hits each for the losers. Bob Robinson added three hits for the Beavers and Gary Klembara blasted a triple to deep center.

Though the two teams combined for 10 errors, there were four double-plays in the game, two by each club.

The Beavers started the scoring in the first inning. Scott Dubberly was hit by a pitch and Smith walked. Dean Horger singled in a run, Klembara plated another with a sacrifice fly and Robinson singled in Horger with the third run.

In the second Mason walked, took second on a wild pitch and scored on a hit by Smith. He took second in the throw home and scored on a single by Horger. In the third Beaver Loal loaded the bases with none out, but Braund bore down to fan Mason and then got Dubberly to bounce into a pitcher-home-first double play.

Midland got on the scoreboard in the fourth on back-to-back singles by the Braund brothers and two wild pitches. The Beavers countered with three runs on only one hit, a lead-off single by Smith. Horger was safe on an error and Klembara walked to load the bases. Lew Brown was hit by a pitch to force in one run. Brown was trapped off first, but the confused Midland infield was unable to retire him and Horger scampered home. Klembara scored when Scott Newtz booted Robinson's grounder. Prodonovich came on at this point and retired the side without further damage, thanks to a double play.

Midland tallied in the fifth when Prodonovich singled, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored on an infield out.

In the bottom of the fifth Mason and Dubberly singled, with Dubberly taking second on the play at third. Smith singled for two runs and rode home on Klembara's triple. Robinson scratched a hit to score Klembara.

Midland got rid of Mason in the sixth when Greg Braund walked and his brother singled. Prodonovich got a scratch hit and Wolford threw the ball away, letting one run score. The final Midland tally came in on an infield out. The Beavers, now 4-1-1, closed out the scoring in the sixth when Rick Sheppard singled, took second on a balk, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Dubberly.

Cubs Blank Cards 1-0

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ferguson Jenkins and Red Schoendienst took turns shaking up the St. Louis Cardinals, Mike Shannon shook up Glenn Beckert, and the Chicago Cubs are shaking up the National League's Eastern Division with their best start in 34 years.

Jenkins, only Cub pitcher tagged with a loss in nine games so far his young season, cooked the Cardinals with five hits in a 1-0 blanking Wednesday night.

After the NL's defending champs' fifth loss in nine games, Manager Schoendienst announced he was benching three of last year's stars—Lou Brock, Tim McCarver and Julian Javier — for tonight's game with the Cubs.

Beckert, the Cubs' second baseman, was carried from the field in the seventh after Shannon, an ex-college football quarterback slammed into him while sliding into second.

Beckert apparently was not seriously injured, but was taken to a hospital for X rays and further examination. Shannon didn't require hospitalization, although he said, "I've got a big lump on my head."

Ron Santo, Cub third baseman and Beckert's roommate, said he was at first frightened by the collision.

"All I saw was my roomies head go back—bang! I thought 'Oh, my God.' I went over to him and asked 'Roomie are you all right.' He said. 'I can't see out of one eye.' I thought he was paralyzed. He wasn't moving . . . just lying there and looking straight."

The Cubs picked up their lone run in the third off lefty Steve Carlton when Billy Williams singled, and moved around on a walk, Ernie Banks' sacrifice and an infield hit by Randy Hundley.

Schoedienst ordered a day's rest for Brock, McCarver and Javier because they "aren't hitting. Maybe a lay off will give them a little help."

Brock had only four hits in 40 trips this season, Javier is 6-for 29 and McCarver 7-for-37.

Meanwhile, in other games Los Angeles back Bill Singer's four-hit pitching with four homers in a 9-1 conquest of San Diego, Jose Pagan rapped four hits and drove in three runs as Pittsburgh routed the New York Mets 11-3 and Hank Aaron's 512th homer of his career guided Atlanta past Houston 6-4. Montreal's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Los Angeles had round trippers from Wes Parker, Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Tom Haller in handing expansionist San Diego its fifth straight loss.

Pagan, replacing rookie Rich Hebner at third, tripled in two runs in the Pirates' four-run first inning and singled in another in a two-run ninth.

The Pirates chased starter Jerry Koosman in the third after Pagan doubled and scored on Jerry May's sacrifice. The Pirates got four more runs off replacement Nolan Ryan in the fifth.

Aaron's two-run shot off lefty Denny Lemaster in the first inning vaulted the great Atlanta slugger into a sixth place tie with former teammate Eddie Mathews on the all-time homer list. Aaron had been tied with Mel Ott.

Seven Homers In Game

Orioles Outslug Boston, Take First In AL East

By HAL BOCK

The Easter Bunny has come and gone but the rabbit remains in American League baseballs.

The little fellow was really jumping Wednesday with 16 home runs sailing out of AL ball yards including seven in Boston's cozy Fenway Park.

The Red Sox got two apiece from Billy Conigliaro and George Scott but it wasn't enough to hold off the rampaiging Baltimore Orioles, who beat Boston 11-8 in a game called by rain rain a 7½ innings. That gave the Orioles 21 runs in the last two days in Friendly Fenway. Don Buford, Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair all reached the seats for Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Detroit rapped Cleveland 8-2, Chicago dropped Kansas City 5-2, Oakland jolted California 6-1 and Minnesota whipped Seattle 6-4. Washington's game at New York was postponed by rain.

Buford drove in four runs with his homer and two singles and Robinson's shot was good for three runs. Blair's came with the bases empty and Dave Johnson added four straight singles to the 16-hit Oriole attack.

Scott had two singles to go with his pair of homers. But it was Conigliaro, filling in for his brother, Tony, who captured the imagination of the crowd with his two shots into Fenway's inviting left field screen.

"I was sort of stunned," the 21-year-old rookie admitted. Billy managed only 20 homers in four minor league seasons and is not rated as much a power hitter as his brother, Tony.

The homers came in Conigliaro's first major league start and helped the Red Sox stay in the game with the hepped-up Orioles, who've won five of the last six and scored 44 runs in that stretch.

Rookie Carlos May enjoyed his second two-homer day of the season and Buddy Bradford also connected as the White Sox took their home opener from Kansas City. The two teams turned in six double plays in the first major league game played outdoors on artificial infield turf.

Joe Foy connected for the Royals.

Jim Northrup drove in four runs for Detroit—two of them with a homer—and Denny McLain scattered nine hits to beat Cleveland for the second time this season. Norm Cash also homered for the Tigers and Jose Cardenal hit one for the Indians.

Sal Bando hammered a grand slam homer and Chuck Dobson's four-hitter eased Oakland past California. Bando's shot followed two walks and an error and gave Dobson all the offense he needed.

Minnesota used a three-run ninth inning rally capped by Rich Reese's two-out, two-run double to trim Seattle. Jim Gosger ended an 0-for-17 slump with three hits for the Pilots including his first home run of the year which gave Seattle a 4-3 lead in the eighth and stt the stage for the late Twins' rally.

Columbiana Hands Potters 1st Golf Loss

Columbiana handed East Liverpool its first golf loss of the season, 153-155 at Valley yesterday.

Ted Ossoff led the Clipper golfers with a par 35, which proved to be the difference. Jim Powers had a 38, Dale Reash 39 and Dan Reash 41. Bill McHenry paced the Potters with a 37, Bob Kinsey had a 38, Andy Petrick 39 and Ken Johnson 41.

East Liverpool, 5-1, travels to Salem today.

Losers Get $10,000

World Series Payoffs Increased To $15,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball, relegated to second best by pro football in playoff payoffs, has raised its money guarantees to all-time highs for players in the World Series.

Under the playoff system brought on by the new divisional setups in each league, the World Series winners will get a guaranteed minimum of $15,000 in 1969, while the losers will receive at least $10,000, based on 32 shares per club.

Pro football's Super Bowl winners have been getting $15,000 and the losers $7,500.

The new agreement announced Wednesday by Joe Cronin, American League president, and Warren Giles, National League president, also guarantees the players on the two clubs losing the divisional playoffs $5,000 each. The winners, of course, go into the series.

The first three teams in each of the four divisions will share in the Series player pool, thus adding another team in each league to the payoff. Previously, only the first five teams in each of the two 10-team leagues got a share.

The new World Series shares represent a considerable increase from the $10,936 each of the Detroit Tigers got in 1968 for beating the St. Louis Cardinals, who only received $7,079 each. In fact, the new plan is quite a jump from the record World Series payoffs of $12,794 and $8,189 that went to the Los Angeles Dodgers for winning in 1963 and losing in 1966.

The divisional playoffs helped make the new payoffs possible as there was little change in the way the Series receipts had been allocated.

Moe Paces Win

Oakland Downs Denver, Wins Playoff Series 4-3

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Oakland's Oaks, who led for all but 30 seconds, defeated the Denver Rockets by 115-102 Wednesday night and moved into the American Basketball Association's Western Division finals.

By winning the divisional semi-finals, 4-3, the Oaks qualified to play either Ner Orleans or Dallas who are tied in their semi-final series at three games each and who meet for the title tonight.

Doug Moe collected 28 points for the Oaks against Denver, five of them in an eight-point Oaks' burst in the opening period.

His teammate, Larry Brown, shot 25 points and Wayne Hightower got 22 for the losers.

Alex Hannum, the Oakland coach, said: "This was one of our biggest games for our young club."

He also said he "was worried when we got in foul trouble, but Warren (Armstrong) helped us by filling in at forward."

The Rockets got 30 attempts from the foul line. Armstrong contributed 19 points to the Oaks' cause.

Denver led briefly by 7-6 in the first period but trailed the rest of the way.

Oakland led by three points at the half and by four at the end of the third period.

The Western Division winner will play for the championship against Kentucky, Indiana, Miami or Minnesota, who are all contending for the Eastern Division title.

Kentucky and Indiana tied 3-3 in one eastern semi-final, play tonight in Indianapolis, Miami and Minnesota, also tied at 3-3, meet in Miami, also tonight.

Cousy Predicts Comeback As Pro Basketball Coach

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Cousy, one of basketball's all-time greats, figures he'll be back in the game he loves some day.

"After 25 years, you just don't completely divorce yourself from the game of basketball," the former Boston Celtic star said.

He retired last month after a six-year stint as head coach at Boston College to become a public relations consultant.

"I've had feelers from several professional teams but I want to try something else for a year or so. Then I'll consider coaching again."

The 40-year-old Cousy was here Wednesday representing a travel agency, one of three firms that compensate the former court magician with an income reportedly in six figures.

Cousy still runs his basketball camp at Pittsfield, N.H., that each summer draws 130 kids between the ages of 7 and 14.

"I love to work with kids and I think that's what I enjoyed most about college coaching. But recruiting, scouting and picture sessions are not my cup of tea."

Cousy said he was delighted to see Boston doing so well in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"The Celtics have the best team in the NBA right now. They didn't do much in the last month and a half of the regular season. You might say they were saving themselves for the playoffs.

"But with Bill Russell and Sam Jones going so well, the club has the cohesion to go all the way."

The former All-American at Holy Cross, who became somewhat of a legend in 13 years at Boston, looks trim enough to step in right now and help his old teammates.

"I still find time to play a little, especially during out summer clinic for high school juniors and seniors. And I plan a trip to Europe this summer to help some countries with their national basketball teams."

Cousy sees one major change in pro ball since the time he played. "The defense hasn't kept pace and the game should do something to make it tougher to score. I think smaller hoops could be the answer, and that goes for college and high school ball, too."

Kings Hope To Break St. Louis Arena Hex

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings, who have never beaten the Blues in St. Louis, will try to break the hex tonight in the second game of the National Hockey League West Division playoffs.

The Blues opened the best-of-7 series Tuesday night blanking the Kings 4-0.

Blues' Coach Scotty Bowman had no personnel problems but the Kings' Red Kelly said Wednesday he might start goalie Wayne Rutledge, who replaced rookie Gerry Desjardins after two periods of Tuesday's opener.

The Kings also were expected to be without services of right winger Lowell MacDonald, who had collided with Bob Plager of the Blues.

Kelly said he might use either Bob Wall, Jacques Lemulex or rookie Ron Anderson in MacDonald's spot.

Bowman's biggest decision was whether to start Jacques Plante or Glenn Hall in goal.

Regardless of who starts, a record performance is in prospect. Plante's shutout in Tuesday's game tied the record of 13 in career playoff competition set by Turk Broda of Toronto.

Hall needs 35 minutes on the ice to break the record for most career minutes by a goaltender in playoffs. The record, 6,211 minutes, is held by Terry Sawchuk, who played with Detroit, Toronto and Los Angeles.

Hall has not played since April 2, when he suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in the opening clash of the semifinals with Philadelphia.

Freedom Rally Nips W. Beaver

Freedom rallied to hand Western Beaver a 5-3 loss at Freedom yesterday.

The Golden Beavers sparked by a homer by Dave McCreery, took a 3-0 lead, but Freedom came back to tie the game and won in the sixth against reliever Eli Rakas.

Don Traylor singled ahead of McCreery's homer in the first. In the second Tom Smith walked, stole second and scored on two hits for the losers, now 2-3.

Al Hornyak To Play Ball At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Allan Hornyak, 6-foot-2 guard from Bellaire who averaged 42 points a game the past season, will play his college basketball at Ohio State.

Hornyak, a first-team selection in The Associated Press Class AA balloting, led Bellaire St. John's to 20 victories after an opening game loss.

A standout in three sports, Hornyak scored 2,385 points in his career, including 86 during a game against Warren Consolidated of Tiltonsville.

LaCosta Golf Course Tough For Pro Tour

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP)—The course is as long as they'll see, but it will take the straight hitter, not the belter, to survive on he awesome acres of La Costa Country Club course.

That was the consensus of an elite field of 28 of the world's best golfers today as they set out on what some called a safari, the first round of the $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

"This course is just too tough," said Billy Casper, the mild-mannered Mormon who rarely complains. "It's just not fair. That's how tough it is.

"You hit a ball in the rough and you just can't find it."

"It's like a U.S. Open course" Masters champion George Archer said. "It's going to go to the straight hitters, Guys like (Lee) Trevino and (Julius Boros guys who can keep it in play, keep it on the fairways."

"It's a jungle out there," Boros, the PGA champion, said. "Hit it into the rough and there is just no telling what may come charging out at you. You don't need caddies. You need gunbearers.

The object of their ire was the 7,200 yard, par 72 La Costa layout, laced with streams and dotted with pools and featuring a three-tiered, man-made waterfall.

Pepper Wilson Promoted In Cincinnati Royal Move

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals have begun a hierarchy shuffle, with promises of more to come.

Wednesday, General Manager Pepper Wilson became the vice president of the National Basketball Association club, a newly created position.

His successor is Joseph A. Axelson, former assistant executive secretary of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

"This is the first in a series of basic organizational changes," said owner Max Jacobs in making the announcements at a press conference.

"We're changing everything on this club. 'We're opening a new era for the Royals. Our new general manager has a long and efficient history to merit his selection."

But Jacobs declined to disclose any of the intimated changes which might be upcoming in the near future.

There have been rumors that there might be changes made in the coaching department. Coach Ed Jucker has one year left on a three - year contract.

Jacobs said the 41-year-old Axelson would be given free rein in promoting the club. Wilson's new job will be in handling players personnel, salaries, trades, signings and scouting.

Axelson is well known in NAIA circles, having also served as its public relations director. He's also former sports officer for Furman Univedsity, sports broadcaster and director for the Bowling Poprietor's Association.

"The Royals have basically a good club," he said. "Any team that is located in a corner of Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio has got to be in the right spot."

Top Pro-Moscow Reds Make Prague Comeback

PRAGUE (AP) — Leading pro-Moscow Communists made a comeback in Czechoslovakia today as their party's Central Committee gathered for a crisis session.

Ten prominent party members accused of collaboration during the Soviet invasion last August were cleared of any wrongdoing and staunchly defended in a statement issued Wednesday night by the party Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is an eight-member inner circle of the 21-member Presidium, ruling body of the Central Committee.

The announcement obviously was timed to precede today's session of the 121-member Central Committee.

The agenda for the committee meeting was expected to include discussion of the internal struggle between old guard and the reformers who took over in January 1968, plans to cancel the traditional mass gatherings on May Day to prevent new anti-Soviet outbursts, price increases and plans for the world meeting of Communist parties in Moscow in June.

Czechoslovaks wondered if the Executive Committee statement meant the old guard had wrested control from party chief Alexander Dubcek's reformers or whether it was a concession that would save the jobs of the still-popular "Big Four" of the reform movement—Dubcek, Premier Oldrich Cernik, President Ludvik Svoboda and Parliament Vice Secretary Josef Smrkovsky.

The statement from the Executive Committee gave a clean bill of health to 10 named leaders and "many comrades in the lower ranks (who) were unjustly labeled and in some cases even exposed to terror."

Although the role played by the 10 is not fully clear, some were denounced as collaborators in underground broadcasts, newspapers, placards and leaflets that kept Czechoslovaks united during the first days of the Soviet occupation.

One of the 10, Party Secretary Alois Indra, was reported in August to be Moscow's choice for puppet premier. He remained in Moscow for more than a month after the invasion, then returned to Prague and became increasingly active.

Meanwhile, the Soviet news agency Tass announced early today that the Warsaw Pact nations had ended three days of air defense maneuvers in Eastern Europe.

The announcement of the maneuvers last weekend caused a stir in Czechoslovakia, and they were viewed by many as an attempt to put pressure on the Central Committee in advance of the meeting today.

A Junior Editors Quiz About YEAST

QUESTION: How does yeast help in breadmaking?

ANSWER: Yeast is a tiny one-celled fungus plant, shown in the upper magnified view as it buds to produce new cells. Yeast can be kept as a compressed cake, with the plants dormant. When such a cake is moistened with lukewarm water, the moisture and warmth start the plants into action. When making bread, yeast is added to flour and water. It changes the starch in the flour to sugar, which is then turned to alcohol and carbon dioxide gas. This process is called fermentation. The gas bubbles up through the dough, causing it to rise in a fluffy, porous mass. Gluten, an elastic material in the dough, encloses the gas bubbles. As the bread is baked, the alcohol and gas evaporate and the yeast plants are destroyed. But the light fluffy structure made by the gas bubbles remains. This allows the heat to thoroughly penetrate and cook the dough. Making homemade bread is simple if you do it right. We recommend following cookbook directions closely and getting mother's help and advice.
